

San Francisco, Aug. 14.—(AP)—In his first public address supporting the candidacy of Gov. Alf M. Landon, former President Hoover submitted for study today his charge that the nation is being forced by the New Deal to a "precipice of reckless monetary and credit policies which jeopardizes your savings."

The former president last night asserted the presidential campaign "is a contest of two philosophies of government. It is in a sense the echo of the gigantic contest raging all over the world."

Briefly tracing the history of the government since he left the presidency, Hoover said:

"We have seen Congress reduced from proud independence to a flock of must sheep. We have seen the Constitution violated a dozen times. We have seen coercion, propaganda and presidential orders substituted for specific laws in a land builded on government of laws and not of men."

Hoover spoke in introducing John Hamilton, Republican national committeeman.

PLAN STATE CAMPAIGN

Chicago, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Republican members of the state legislature, organized as a Republican joint legislative committee, pushed forward with campaign plans today after opening a headquarters in a loop hotel.

Rep. Elmer J. Schnackenberg, Cook county house Republican leader, said candidates would meet at a dinner Wednesday in conjunction with Republican Day at the state fair in Springfield.

Named committee house branch chairman was Rep. Frederick W. Rennie of Buda, with Representatives Leroy M. Green of Rockford, R. J. Branson of Centerville, Richard J. Lyons of Libertyville, Brennan J. Slater of Evanston, David E. Shanahan of Chicago and Schnackenberg as members.

Sen. George W. Dixon of Dixon was chosen Senate committee chairman. Other members were Senators Oral P. Tuttle, Harrisburg, Richard J. Barr, Joliet, James J. Barbour, Evanston, and Daniel A. Serritella, Chicago.

Sen. Thomas P. Gunning of Princeton was assigned to arrange for halls and speakers.

PEEK TO SEE LEMKE

Chicago, Aug. 14.—(AP)—George N. Peek, widely known agriculture leader and former advisor to President Roosevelt, said today he probably would confer here with Representative William Lemke of North Dakota, the Union party's presidential candidate.

Lemke arrived in Chicago this morning from his home at Fargo enroute to Cleveland, O., where he is scheduled to address the convention of the National Union for Social Justice.

Peek had he had been requested by a close personal friend—a strong supporter of Lemke—to meet the latter and learn his views.

A Republican until he became a strong supporter of Al Smith in the 1928 presidential campaign, Peek also aided Roosevelt in the latter's fight against former President Herbert Hoover. He resigned as Roosevelt's advisor on foreign trade more than a year ago. Recently he conferred with Governor Alfred Landon, the Republican presidential nominee at Topeka.

Asked to comment on his political position with reference to the present campaign, Peek said:

"Until a candidate's views are made known I cannot take a stand. Mr. Landon has not yet spoken on his farm and foreign policies, the two things in which I am most interested."

The agriculture leader said, however, he was "definitely" opposed to the administration's farm and foreign policies.

'EXPENSIVE AMATEUR HOUR'

Huntington, W. Va., Aug. 14.—(AP)—An attack on the New Deal as "the most expensive amateur hour in history" by Frank Knox, vice presidential candidate, who also advocated a "real share the wealth movement" of widespread employee ownership of stock, opened a drive by Republicans to recapture West Virginia.

The nominee, speaking last night before his party's state convention and an overflow crowd of several thousand persons, added: "And in November, the American people will give all those New Deal performers the gong."

Knox declared there had been a strong movement in the direction of wider stock distribution among workers, but that this had been halted "only temporarily" by the depression.

He also amplified his party's position on labor matters, saying: "The relentless forces in the American system are moving toward shorter hours and higher wages. Our Republican administration will encourage this trend."

Knox made a definite bid for Democratic support, telling the convention the "mad course of the Roosevelt administration" had alienated many leading Democrats and that the November bat-

ASTOR-THORPE
CONTEST MAY BE REOPENED

Post-Settlement Announcements Stir Atty. Anderson

BULLETIN

Los Angeles, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Superior Judge Goodwin J. Knight formally declared the Mary Astor-Dr. Franklyn Thorpe child custody case closed today.

At the same time Sheriff's Deputy Ray Bogie announced he would search the home of Mrs. Hart, playwright and collaborator with George S. Kaufman, in an effort to arrest Kaufman.

Kaufman is sought on a bench warrant after his failure to appear in court when subpoenaed by attorneys for Dr. Thorpe.

Previously, Joseph Anderson, Dr. Thorpe's chief counsel, had said he would petition to reopen the case in which a settlement was reached yesterday giving custody of four-year-old Marylyn Thorpe to her actress-mother for nine months of the year, and to her father for three months.

Anderson was irked by a statement issued by Roland Rich Woolley, attorney for Miss Astor, after the settlement was announced.

"The court is powerless to prevent ill-advised and irresponsible statements by litigants or their attorneys," declared Judge Knight. Anderson said it had been agreed that none of the principals was to comment publicly on the settlement reached after two days of maneuvering which climaxed a sensational hearing.

Knight declared he would place Kaufman in jail if he can be found. His name figured prominently in the hearing on Miss Astor's suit to gain custody of her daughter, which had been granted to Dr. Thorpe when he divorced the actress last year.

Los Angeles, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Resumption of the Mary Astor child custody battle was threatened today with its exchanged charges of illicit film colony romances—also a demand for a new look into the auburn-haired actress' diary on life and love.

Only a few hours after court approval of an agreement in the tempestuous case, the new bombshell was fired suddenly by Joseph Anderson, attorney for Miss Astor's former husband, Dr. Franklyn Thorpe.

Anderson said he was angered by a post-agreement statement in behalf of Miss Astor which charged was prepared in advance of the decision. He also said he based his intention to seek resumption of the case on the belief the signature of Roland Rich Woolley, Miss Astor's attorney, to the agreement "was apparently insincere."

The agreement, which caused Miss Astor to say, "I feel that I have won."

Terms of Agreement

1. Granted her custody for nine months of each year of four-year-old Marylyn Astor Thorpe in contrast with the full custody order obtained by Dr. Thorpe with his divorce decree.

2. Impounded Miss Astor's purple-inked diary of which Dr. Thorpe gained possession and which Anderson charged detailed her association with prominent men, including George Kaufman, the playwright.

Dixon Man Discovers His Missing
Outboard Motor Boat Docked in Mississippi River at Savanna

When Leroy Hall, foreman of the stitching department of the Brown Shoe company, discovered his yellow outboard motor boat was missing from its customary dock in Rock river here, he conducted a brief investigation then gave the boat up for lost about a fortnight ago.

Sunday, he motored to Galena for the week-end, all thoughts of the boat completely dismissed from his mind. In the evening he returned by way of Savanna. At a point where highway No. 80 follows the river bank he noticed a large dredge at work and curios-

Stores Crowded

Perfect weather, unusual bargains and thorough advertising coverage of the Dixon trade area by The Telegraph, resulted in an early influx of shoppers to Dixon this morning—the first of the two fall Dollar Days. When the stores were opened eager shoppers were waiting to take advantage of the savings offered by the Dixon merchants. Hourly the throngs increased until by mid-morning every store was crowded and all shoppers expressed satisfaction with the bargains they were able to obtain. The Dollar Day prices will continue in effect all day tomorrow.

THREE SOLDIERS
DIED IN BURNING
PLANE LAST EVE

Ship Caught Fire in Flight Over Virginia;
One Survived

New Kent Courthouse, Va., Aug. 14.—(AP)—An army plane, catching fire in flight, crashed on a farm near here last night, killing three of its crew of four.

The fourth man, Private N. D. Flinn, 21, of McGuffey, Ohio, jumped to safety with a parachute.

Langley Field officers said the three killed were Lieutenant Willard S. Marvin of Riverside, Calif.; Private John J. Maher of McKeesport, Pa., and Private James E. Crittenden of Richmond, Va. They said the plane, a bomber, was on a practice flight from Langley Field.

C. T. Crump, a resident near here, said he saw the plane fall. He said it resembled a huge comet, with a tail of fire.

The bodies were burned beyond recognition. One of the victims was thrown clear of the plane, the body being found about 20 feet from the wreck.

The cause of the fire and crash could not be learned immediately. Flinn was "shaky" after his narrow escape and was not able to give many details. Officers said he said he landed with his parachute about 300 yards from the spot where the plane struck and dashed to the burning wreck. He said the heat was so intense, however, that he could not reach the crew.

Flinn said the pilot ordered the crew to bail out, but that he alone was able to get out of the plane. He said he had difficulty in opening the door and that the plane was comparatively close to the ground before he could leap.

The four men were attached to the 96th Bombardment Squadron.

Ashtonite's Trial
Set for December

Jacob Boom, Ashton resident who was arrested Wednesday evening when it was reported that he threatened the lives of his family, requested to be taken before Judge Leach in the county court this morning and permitted to enter with the full custody order obtained by Dr. Thorpe with his divorce decree.

2. Impounded Miss Astor's purple-inked diary of which Dr. Thorpe gained possession and which Anderson charged detailed her association with prominent men, including George Kaufman, the playwright.

HUSKIES WIN
ROWING TITLE
AT OLYMPICS

Washington U. Team
Rallies in Last
500-Meters

By ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor
Grunau, Germany, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Coming from behind in the last 500 meters, the University of Washington today won the Olympic eight-oared rowing championship.

After Italy had maintained the lead from the start up to the 1,500 meter mark, the Huskies came through with a brilliant spurt to win the title and keep unbroken American domination of eight-oared rowing competition.

Starting with 1920 when the United States first entered eight-oared Olympic competition, American college crews have won each time—Navy in 1920; Yale in 1924 and the University of California in 1928 and 1932.

The Americans' spurt in the final 500 meters gave them the championship by a length margin over Italy, the 1932 runner-up. Washington was clocked in six minutes, 25.4 seconds, far behind the course and Olympic record of 6:00.8 the Huskies set in Wednesday's trials. Water and weather conditions, however, were bad today.

German Third
German was adjudged the third place finisher in a blanket finish, with Great Britain fourth, Hungary fifth and Switzerland sixth. Barely a length and a half separated the three leaders in one of the most spectacular finishes the Olympics ever have seen.

Italy's time was 6:26; Germany's 6:26.4. Gustav Schaefer of Germany captured the singles sculling championship with the Austrian, Hasenoechl, second and Dan Barrow of Philadelphia a surprising third.

Schaefer made a procession of the race, winning by two lengths from Hasenoechl, Barrow, a distant outsider in the race, beat out Charlie Campbell of Canada, 15 Ruffi of Switzerland and Giorgio of Argentina in that order.

Schaefer, succeeding to the crown won in 1932 by Bobby Pearce, great Australian, chalked up Germany's third successive victory in the Olympic rowing finals. Earlier in the day the Teutons had captured the finals for four-oared shells with coxswain and for paired-oared shells without coxswain.

Souvenir Hunters Ripped Hangman's Noose From the Face of Executed Negro

10,000 Witnessed the Hanging in Owens-
boro, Ky. This Morn

Owensboro, Ky., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Souvenir hunters ripped the hangman's hood from the face of Rayne Bethea immediately after the 22-year-old negro was hanged here today before a huge throng for assault upon a 70-year-old white woman.

Bethea still breathed when a few persons from the crowd rushed the four-foot wire enclosure about the scaffold and scrambled for fragments as mementoes of the spectacle. The crowd, estimated at upwards of 10,000, was for the most part orderly, except for a few hoots during administration of the last rites by a priest.

Mrs. Florence Thompson, sheriff, who directed preparations for the hanging staged in a three-acre lot, left to Arthur Hash, former Louisville policeman, the throwing of the trigger which dropped the negro to his death. She did not appear publicly.

Heart Beat 16 Minutes
Hash sprung the trap upon signal from consulting executioner G. Phil Hanna at 5:28 A. M. CST. Dr. W. L. Tyler and Dr. B. H. Seigler, Owensboro, pronounced Bethea dead at 5:44 1/2 A. M. Dr. Tyler said the neck was broken cleanly by the drop. He expressed surprise that the heart beat continued 16 1/2 minutes.

The hanging climaxed a night of excitement in Owensboro, whose normal 25,000 population was swelled by many thousands from Indiana, Illinois and surrounding Kentucky counties, lured by the first public hanging ever held in this county.

Throughout the night the spectators pushed into choice positions to watch Bethea die for the ravishing of Mrs. Eliza Edwards on June 10. Thousands milled about the streets converging upon the scene. Several women fainted in the crush after the hanging.

Women, Babies In Crowd
About half of those who fought and shoved to get closer to the enclosure were women, young girls and children. Babies in arms and toddlers by the score clung to their mothers.

An hour before the execution the lot was full and several thousands had surged through the gates into the space reserved for officials.

Towards 5 o'clock as the sun rose, a crimson disk, partly shrouded by the Ohio river's mist, men's voices, and women's, began to be heard, crying:

"Where's the nigger?"
"Bring him out."
"Let's get going."

The cries in number and volume increased as minutes passed. At 5:20 A. M. an outcry at one corner of the grounds proclaimed Bethea's arrival.

Officers hustled him through the packed spectators to the foot of the scaffold. He wore handcuffs. At the scaffold's base the negro knelt under the rising sun. The Rev. Father Herman Lammers of the Cathedral of the Assumption, Louisville, stood before him holding

Alf Landon, Republican presidential candidate, will speak from the rear platform of his special train, enroute to Chicago on the Northwestern railroad. OVER THOUSAND
TEACHERS TO BE
DIXON'S GUESTS

Two Institutes To Be Held in This City in October

Dixon will be host to more than 1,500 school teachers from north-west Illinois in October, the occasion being the combined sessions of the Lee County Teachers Association and the Rock River Valley division of the State Teacher's Association. The former will be in session Oct. 15 and the following day the division meeting will be held.

Two meetings will be held in the new Dixon high school auditorium. Approximately 400 teachers will attend the county meeting and more than 1,000 are expected on the following day, County Superintendent of Schools, L. W. Miller announced today.

The program for the county institute calls for three lectures at the forenoon session and two in the afternoon. The lecturers will be Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools of Atlanta, Ga.; A. W. Clevenger, high school inspector of the University of Illinois; and Charles C. Steadman, first assistant to State Superintendent of Public Instruction John A. Weiland of Springfield. The program for the division meeting has not been completed and will be announced later.

Prepare for Opening

Many of the rural schools of Lee county are preparing for the opening of the school year, several of the schools opening Aug. 31. Improvements in several of the schools have been made during the summer months which are for the comfort of the students and will be quite noticeable when studies are resumed. There are a total of 153 rural schools in Lee county, but 12 of this number will not open this season.

A meeting of the rural teachers has been called for next Thursday at 9 o'clock to be held in the circuit court room at the court house. This annual meeting is arranged for beginning teachers, but all others are welcome and instructions and supplies will be issued by County Superintendent Miller.

One New Building

One new rural school has been erected this summer which will open the latter part of this month. The Goy school, district No. 80 in May township, which was destroyed by fire, has been replaced by a modern structure.

Through the activity of County Superintendent Miller, Lee county will send four delegates to the Illinois state fair school at Springfield, which opens tomorrow. County Superintendent W. L. Pickering of the Ogle county school system will be in charge of the appointees from the 13th congressional district. The four delegates from the Lee county schools are: Fred Benson, Dixon; Wayne Hoyle and Everett Hugett of Amboy and Stoddard Danekas, Jr., of Steward.

Mass Execution in Almendralejo is Reported Today

Lisbon, Portugal, Aug. 14.—(AP)—More than a thousand government militiamen, including a hundred women, died in a mass execution by rebel forces at Almen-dralejo, a correspondent of the newspaper Diario Noticias reported today.

Lisbon heard the city of Badajoz was in flames.

The newspaper report on the executions came from Rosal de la Frontera.

The town of Almenoralejo is in the Badajoz province, which is largely in control of the rebels. The capital city of Badajoz itself is held by government troops.

Badajoz was fired, said reports reaching Lisbon, by a rebel airplane attack in which 19 incendiary bombs were dropped on the city.

Refugees streaming across the Portuguese border said most of the victims—the number is not given—were innocent women and children and old people.

HOSTAGES SEIZED
(Copyright, 1936, By The AP)

Irun, Spain, Aug. 14.—Scores of persons opposed to the Madrid socialist government were seized and held as hostages in San Sebastian and Irun today in reply to a rebel threat to destroy the two government-held towns with sea and air bombardments.

Some of the more radical government partisans said they would be killed in the event yesterday's detonating attack by five rebel airplanes was renewed.

San Sebastian city officials already had served notice on rebel cruiser Almirante Cervera, shutting back and forth in the Bay of Biscay within easy range of the city, that so-called "rightists" would face firing squads if the vessel opened fire.

Militiamen herded both men and women into improvised prisons to hold them captive as guarantees against rebel attacks.

The cruiser, holding off its destructive rain of 8-inch shells, was reported to be waiting for rebel troops advancing on San Sebastian and Irun from the south to gain a better foothold in the heights commanding the towns before opening its bombardment.

Before today's round-up of fascists and royalists by government militia, 700 others unfriendly to the Madrid regime already had been incarcerated under threat of death if San Sebastian was made the target for renewed attacks.

How many more hostages were taken was not disclosed.

Hotels and villas were searched meticulously for enemies of the regime.

"We will kill two hostages for each citizen wounded by rebel air attacks and seven for each one killed," one leftist said.

Eight persons were reported to have been killed in San Sebastian during Thursday's bombardment from the air.

New, heavy guns were set up over night by the San Sebastian garrison to resist a sea attack. Up to noon, however, the city was quiet. It was feared the air attack by the rebels would be launched in the afternoon.

FIERCE BATTLES RAGING

(Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press)

Madrid, Aug. 14.—Fierce battles between fascist rebels and government militia shattered the pastoral quiet of the ancient district of Estremadura in western Spain today.

The principal line of defense against the attacking insurgents was established by Holy, a town near the Portuguese frontier, the government declared.

Bloody engagements drew the opposing forces together at three other points in the Old Herding district, now constituted as the provinces of Badajoz and Caceres. Rebel commanders claimed capture of the ancient Roman town of Merida in Badajoz.

Insurance Companies Promise to Reduce Rates on All Residential Property in Illinois 5 Per Cent

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Insurance Director Ernest Palmer today announced that fire insurance companies operating in Illinois had promised to make a five per cent reduction in their residential rates, effective October 1.

The action was a compromise in Palmer's recent demand that fire rates be cut ten per cent, which was followed by federal district court action in which the insurance companies obtained an injunction to restrain the state from ordering the reduction.

The five per cent reduction is to apply on one and two-family dwellings and apartments with approved roofs in municipalities having adequate fire protection.

Governor Horner stated the 1937 legislature would be asked to enact a rate regulation and anti-discrimination law to protect policyholders. The voluminous insurance code bill sponsored by Palmer has been twice defeated by the present assembly.

a cross. The doomed man prayed. His words were inaudible to other ears than those lost by because there continued shouts, both shrill and deep.

Step Was Firm
When the young priest, who converted Bethea in the Louisville jail, had completed his ritual, the negro rose. Two deputies grasped his arms and he marched with firm step to the trap.

At the death spot Bethea again faced the east and conversed with Father Lammers. Hanna's assistants bound his arms and legs and slipped the black hood over his head. Hanna signaled to Hash and the negro plummeted to death.

Betha hung rigid, without twitching, his body swaying slightly in the river breeze.

About half of the crowd started away without awaiting the end. The other half pushed up to the scaffold and began to climb the base.

Drs. Tyler and Seigler tested his heart at intervals and after fourteen minutes ripped the hood slightly to observe Bethea's eyes. The spectators soon reached in and tore at the hood, shouting as they obtained bits. When physicians stepped back many hands snatched at the hood, taking most of it away in fragments, which were promptly subdivided.

TRAFFIC COLLISION

Two cars were considerably damaged in a collision on state route 89, about 12 miles south of Dixon in Marion township yesterday. A new car driven by Mrs. Mary Anderson of DeKalb, which was driving north on the paving, crashed into an ac ar driven by John Rankin, Marion township farmer, as the latter entered on the highway, directly in the path of the DeKalb machine. Rankin's car was almost demolished but both drivers escaped uninjured. The DeKalb car was badly damaged and was hauled to a local garage.

Astor-Thorpe—

ment of the agreement made much of the "notoriety" caused by the case.

The statement by Woolley, which drew Anderson's ire, asserted Miss Astor was "forced" into the battle and deplored that the contents of her diary were "so scandalously used outside of the court."

Anderson, replying that "we did not know we were dealing with that kind of people," said both sides had agreed not to use any post-settlement statements. Now that one had been issued, Anderson declared he would demand a complete airing of the facts which Dr. Thorpe previously was "gracious enough" to have withheld because the evidence "might materially harm the mother."

Miss Astor's Statement
The notoriety of the case also bobbed up in a post-settlement statement by the slender Miss Astor. She said she entered the fight like "any other conscientious woman" would and "was fully aware that I would have to face unpleasant notoriety which might jeopardize my screen career."

Anderson declared:
"I will petition to reopen the case because in the interest of my client I feel that the signature which he (Woolley) placed, and which I thought was in good faith, to the stipulation, was apparently insincere, and if so, in order to protect the rights of my client, I feel that the case should be immediately reopened for a complete and thorough hearing."

He would also petition the court, he declared, "to determine if it was contempt of court for Mr. Woolley to prepare in advance of the decision a typewritten copy to be handed out immediately after the decision."

The attorney said he would seek to have Judge Knight read the diary as a basis for his argument that the case should be reopened.

"However, I do not think its contents should be made public," he added.

Politics

He was "not a campaign against the Democratic party."

Among the alleged alienated Democrats he mentioned was John W. Davis, a native of the Mountaineer state and former Democratic presidential candidate.

"POLITICAL GESTURE"

Washington, Aug. 14—(AP)—The Roosevelt administration's announcement that it planned to propose no new taxes at the next session of congress evoked accusations of "politics" today from Republicans.

"A political gesture pure and simple" was the way Rep. Bacon (R-NY), eastern campaign manager for the Republican congressional committee, described the move in a formal statement.

Melvin C. Eaton, Republican chairman of New York state, said the tax announcement was a "political campaign statement," while Harrison E. Spangler, vice chairman of the Republican national committee, said the public could place no reliance on such assurances.

When Republican national chairman John D. M. Hamilton heard of the Roosevelt administration announcement he laughed and said he would comment "in the words of Senator Walsh of Massachusetts—'there may not be any new taxes this year, or the year after, but, oh boy, look out for the years to come!'"

There were no further statements from Democrats, beyond those issued after an early morning conference at the White House yesterday.

At that time Secretary Morgenthau, Senator Harrison (D-Miss) and Rep. Doughton (D-Conn) said a survey was being ordered to determine whether tax reductions can be made by repealing some "nuisance taxes." Harrison, chairman of the senate finance committee, said business improvement would enable the government "to reach a balanced budget much earlier than we expected."

Spangler, in a statement at Chicago, said:
"The same president who is now so thoroughly concerned about the welfare of the taxpayers, asked congress last spring for one billion, five hundred million dollars to spend as he pleased."

"It will be remembered that the president's budget which is supposed to reflect the government's financial condition shows that, if by any chance Mr. Roosevelt is re-elected, he will ask congress for another huge blank check next January."

"What is the answer? There is only one. Inflation."

"The taxpayers are doomed to pay and pay if the ruinous spending is not stopped."

"The best advice I can give to authors," said Dr. Samuel Johnson in the 18th century, "is that they should stay away from each other."

Two Illinoisans Mentioned for McCarl's Old Place

Washington, Aug. 14. — (AP) — Two Illinois men—Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, and M. S. Szymczak, member of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System—are in the group whose names are frequently mentioned as possible appointees to the vacant Comptroller Generalship.

Szymczak, former collector of the port of Chicago, was recently appointed to a 12-year term on the federal reserve board. He had served several years on the board when it was re-organized by the last session of congress. He is reputed to have the backing of Governor Henry Horner of Illinois for the Comptroller Generalship.

Ickes has been frequently mentioned for the position since the resignation of John R. McCarl, who recently completed a 15-year term in the office.

RAIN AIDS FIRE FIGHTERS TODAY

Three Major Minnesota Conflagrations Reported Checked

St. Paul, Aug. 14—(AP)—Rain abated the northern Minnesota forest fire danger somewhat early today when showers aided fire fighters in subduing all brush, peat, and bog fires in at least one area—Hibbing.

Duluth also reported a trace of rain while north of Warroad, where a serious timber blaze burned yesterday, forest rangers reported showers aided them in combating the flames.

Minnesota's three principal conflagrations were checked for the time being at least as winds subsided and humidity rose.

A wireless dispatch to the Duluth National Guard from Gabe-togama Lake, 50 miles west of International Falls, told how the flames had "burned out" on a peninsula after blackening 30,000 acres.

Rangers in the Grand Portage state forest near Pine lake advised 400 men had halted the fire there for the first time.

Wind Saved Day.
State forestry department officials here assumed that the third big blaze, which threatened to vault the international boundary above Warroad and drove several settlers from their homes, had been controlled since they received no reports to the contrary.

Residents of the McGrath, Minn. area returned to the places they had quit. Rangers had dispersed a stemming the fiery onrush but an east wind was credited with "saving the day."

A. F. Opel, deputy state forecaster, said the favorable turn would give more than 10,000 Minnesota firefighters "time to dig in for a threatening long siege."

"Unless we get a heavy rain, the constant menace of fires will remain," said Opel.

DIVING TITLE NO CINCH FOR YANKEE TEAM

Berlin, Aug. 14—(AU)—Although the favored Marshall Wayne of Miami led at the end of the compulsory half of the competition, there were unmistakable signs today that the fight for the Olympic men's platform diving championship may not produce another title runaway by Americans.

The superbly-poised Floridian, who was consistently brilliant and did not receive less than a seven rating from any judge in any of the four mandatory dives, compiled 46.65 points at the end of the first half of the program. Four optional dives, completing the championship will be held tomorrow.

Closely pressing the blond-haired American was the German Erhard Weiss, who finished fifth in the springboard championship decided Tuesday when Dick Degener, Wayne and Al Greene gave the United States a sweep of the first three places.

The German came amassd 46.09 points, followed in order by another Tepton, Herman Stork, 44.53 points; Elbert Root, Chicago, 44.03 points; Tsuneo Shibahara, Japan, 43.39 points; Frank Kurtz, Los Angeles, 41.71 points, and Viebahn, Germany, 41.39 points.

SECOND ANNUAL REUNION OF HENERT FAMILY—

FIFTH SPECIAL SESSION TO BE CALLED AUG. 25

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 14—(AP)—A spokesman for Governor Horner announced the fifth special legislative session would be called for August 25, a week from Tuesday, instead of for next week.

Creation of a state school board is to be the main question for action at the fifth session, but it was stated that the governor has not definitely decided on what other subjects will be in the call.

The governor announced plans to fly tomorrow to Pearl, Mich., to observe the activities of the 33rd division, the Illinois National Guard, in the Second Army's war games. The flight will be made in the plane of L. P. Bonfoey of Quincy, state aeronautics chairman. He intends to return here.

Starting a series of political trips to county fairs, Horner this afternoon was scheduled to drive to Pinckneyville.

Close associates advised the governor that it might be an unwise political move to ask the fifth special session to provide for a November 3 referendum on the calling of a state constitutional convention.

His house floor leader, F. W. Lewis of Robinson, was among those arguing that a definite proposal to amend the constitution's revenue should be arranged for a later referendum.

LIFE'S CHOICES.

By Joseph Fort Newton.

LIFE is a series of choices every day, everywhere. But, oddly enough, the little decisions, which have to be made quickly, take more out of us and reveal more of what is in us than the big ones.

In the major matters we take time to think things through, weighing all the alternatives and facts. It is so when we decide whether to go into law, or medicine, or business, or to get married.

At such times we lay our plans carefully, but a thousand little matters come up along the way which must be settled instantly, and they often upset the big plan and may actually mean its defeat.

When Lindbergh planned his trip to the Orient, no doubt he sat down in his study, with maps and charts, and plotted his course. But on the way he had to decide whether to turn back in a fog or risk going on; whether to make a forced landing or dash for an airport.

There was no time to think things through; he had to act instantly, and an error might have been fatal. The minor choices of life have in them the possibility of defeat, tragedy and disaster.

"Never swap horses in the middle of a stream" is an old proverb which Lincoln quoted in a critical hour. But that is exactly what we have to do without getting drowned or being ducked.

Often we cannot think first and act afterward; life does not wait for us to make up our minds. The scene shifts, the facts change so rapidly, and yet a false or foolish decision may mean a smash-up. "A man may be wise on Tuesday and a fool on Wednesday," said Dostoevski, and that makes it all the more difficult. We need not only decision of character, but quick insight and skill to handle life.

No wonder a famous preacher, when asked what he regarded as the wisest prayer, said, "O Lord, give me the wisdom to change my mind quickly in face of new facts." It is a wise prayer against a rigid mind.

No wonder, too, we make so many mistakes, even when we try to do right, and mean to do good, and that should make us charitable.

Republican Women Can Impart Truth to Sisters

Chicago, August 14.—Republican women have a moral obligation to explain to all women the dire effects of New Deal misplanning upon the American home, Mrs. Irene Reidy, president of the Republican Business Women's Club of Chicago, said today as she enlisted as a speaker for the Republican national campaign.

"To my mind the time has arrived when we must be more than emissaries for Republican doctrines and principles; we must be crusaders," she said. "We must bring the truths about the present administration to every business woman and housewife."

"The average woman does not understand how the New Deal policies have taken the American farmer out of foreign markets and allowed foreign products to crowd out American produced materials, hitting directly at the cost of living. Women should be told why they cannot manage their households on their limited incomes, due to prevailing high prices of foodstuffs. Taxes seen and unseen are cutting incomes as the cost of living is raised. When American women see this picture, there is little doubt how they will vote."

Mrs. Reidy, a native of Nebraska, is on the executive board of the National Republican Women's Club and chairman of the speakers' bureau of the Illinois State Women's Republican Clubs.

Writes Letter to Careless Children

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Children are acquisitive rather than conservative. By conservative I mean "to conserve or cherish."

I began this article with the idea of suggesting to mothers a little sermon on care to pass on to the youngsters. But now I've decided to talk to them myself. And so:

Dear Children:
This is a lady whom you don't know, writing to you. But I like children so well that I think you might call me a friend.

Too Rushed to Stop
And I have children of my own, too, so I know about all your lovely ways and fine generous hearts you see. But I also know about the thoughtless hurry you are in sometimes, because every boy and every girl gets so interested in play there doesn't seem to be time to think whether their toys and clothes are being taken care of or not.

It just happens that way and everybody knows you don't intend to make mother worry. But she does worry; she can't help it. If you leave your wagon too near the edge of the terrace, Jack, and it decides to race down into the street to be smashed by a car, of course she worries. Or if your doll cart, Mary, the one you were so proud of on your birthday, is left outside overnight, rained on hard, and spoiled, I'm not surprised if she even cries.

Mended Toys Ignored
She can have your wagon fixed, Jack—perhaps—and a new lining put in the "pram," Mary, but you know every kind of repair work costs money. And besides there is a pretty good chance that you won't be very proud of the fixed-over toys ever again. When things are hurt, we lose interest in them. And that's too bad. "Oh, that old thing," you will be saying, perhaps. "Mom, can't I have a new one?"

And maybe Mother will look a bit upset, because it seems such a short time since she decided to do without new cups and saucers to get you that now-rusted present. And she is still using the old cups, all cracked and chipped from a thousand washings, because she wanted you to be happy.

Things wear out just as mother's cups did, from what we call "wear and tear." But that is different. That takes time. We expect those things. What we don't expect is to have them spoiled long before their time by carelessness, or forgetfulness or laziness.

Carelessness Expensive

When you lose your cap or sweater or raincoat, it is almost the same as though you had lost a dollar, or several dollars. I'm afraid that's just about the way we have to look at it. Because it takes money to replace the last piece, and money is a hard, hard thing to get. You will learn some day just how hard. And besides, when money is spent for one thing, it can't be spent for anything else. Did mother ever say, "I'll have to buy you a new hat in place of the one you lost, Jack, so now I cannot get you your new shoes?" And it makes her feel dreadfully, those shoes do.

Boys and girls usually learn to take care of their possessions in time, but often they are grown up before this happens. And even then some people never learn. What a pity. Because for everything lost or destroyed, or spoiled, SOMEONE ALWAYS HAS TO WORRY. Usually it is mother. And that really doesn't seem fair, when a little thought, a little trying and a little trouble

Adequate Rest Is Beauty Need

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

The vacationer who comes back to town looking as fresh as the proverbial daisy is the one who has sensibly mixed rest with play during her short holiday. From the appearance of her skin, eyes, hair and figure, you just know that she had fun, played a good deal and enjoyed the change, but you also know that she managed to get adequate sleep each day and that she didn't overdo the business of exercise.

It isn't a good idea for a girl who sits behind a desk fifty weeks of the year to spend the other two weeks taking ten-mile hikes, three-mile swims and six-hour sessions of golf or tennis. Your body reacts accordingly. On the other hand, if you exercise moderately for the first five or six days until your muscles get used to moving about, you will build strength and health gradually, thereby deriving real benefit.

Of course you probably are planning to dance all night every time you get a chance. That's a fine idea. Dancing is one of the best exercises. But don't dance until four, then make a date for an early morning game of tennis. Sleep for eight hours. Play tennis afterward. Just for the two weeks, it doesn't matter especially when you sleep. But you ought to sleep eight or nine hours out of every twenty-four.

Remember, too, that it is fine to plan your vacation with an eye not only toward a change of climate and scenery but mode of living as well. If you live with several people, work with hundreds and spend fall, winter and spring hurrying about, a summer holiday alone or one that allows for a little solitude is good for your nerves and therefore your beauty. On the other hand, if you have few social contacts, work alone and live by yourself, better decide on a cruise.

the gayest hotel you can find or a house party with dozens of people milling around.

WHY IS THIS THUS?

By courtesy of the republican national committee, we have for our files a volume entitled, Quotations from Addresses, Messages and Statements of Franklin D.
Roosevelt.

It is unique in campaign literature.

In all the campaigns in which we have examined campaign literature that has come to newspaper offices, we do not recall ever having seen a document made up exclusively of the addresses, messages and statements of the candidate of the opposition party.

Always in the past the campaign committee published volumes of addresses, messages and statements of the candidate of its own party and left the other to do its own advertising.

Only one conclusion can be drawn. The republican national committee looked over the situation and reasoned that one of the most damaging things that it could use for campaign purposes would be 131 pages of Quotations from Addresses, Messages and Statements of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

We hope that never happens to us.

ONE MORE TASK FOR REED

One more task lies ahead, for which the nation may pray that James A. Reed of Missouri may be spared.

When Americanism is at stake, Reed may be put down on the side of America. He is a good hater. When he hates, there is no half-way business about it. The thing he is hating now is that the livery of the democratic party has been stolen for the communists.

The Missourian has excited the admiration of America on various occasions. We may not agree with him at all times, but his courage, his ability or his Americanism never are left in doubt.

Reed and Borah were the forefront of the battle that kept us out of the league of nations. Whatever errors may be marked down against them, when history of this era is written, will be far overshadowed by the blessing to the United States that lay in their irreconcilable opposition to this foreign entanglement that Woodrow Wilson, James A. Cox, nominee for the presidency, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, nominee for the vice presidency, favored and proposed committing us to.

To the people of the United States the term "league of nations" meant everlasting peace, when it first was given to us. The people were sick of war, though devastating armies never had reached our shores. Like the More Abundant Life, the very name sold it. We wanted peace and didn't intend to examine the terms of it.
As we recall it now, out here in the midwest newspapers were a little impatient with that small coterie of irreconcilables in the United States senate who were opposing Mr. Wilson's proposal to do us good on his own terms, no matter how much it hurt us.

Down in Washington, though, were Senator Reed and Senator Borah and a few others who were not in a hurry to delegate the power of the congress of the United States to a super-power. Under the slogan, Open Covenants Openly Arrived At the covenant was written in secret in a foreign country, and a democratic senate was expected to put a rubber stamp upon it.

It should be remembered in this connection that Reed was of the party of President Wilson, but he saw clearly what the people were not seeing. He saw that the United States of America was being drawn into European affairs as a permanent arrangement under the guise of permanent peace, the idealism of Wilson.

Standing out like a giant, Reed fought and won—for America.

For that he was refused a seat in the democratic convention at San Francisco, but he never abdicated as a leader of the democratic forces in the senate.

As we look back now, we see that the easy way was to rush in for "everlasting peace," under the name
"league of nations," and the hard way was the way Reed took. Yet what a blessing to the United States that he chose the hard way because it was right.

Down in the United States senate now are spineless creatures who know that the easy way is not only the wrong way, but the dangerous way, but they have neither the courage nor the ability to resist. The More Abundant Life is accepted as they would have had us accept perpetual peace for the world.

Yet, outside of the senate, James A. Reed enlists in one more fight for America.

Time has proved he was right before. Shall we say he is wrong now?

CAMPAIGNING AGAINST US

A campaign to induce Illinois by force of public opinion to adopt state drivers' permits for autoists is quietly being pushed from Washington by the accident prevention conference, organized under auspices of the department of commerce.

Representatives of the conference say that Illinois is the largest of a few remaining states which have refused to require all drivers to pass standard traffic tests and qualify in an examination on ordinary traffic rules. Missouri is the only other midwestern state without such a statute.

Drivers' permit legislation has been blocked in the state legislature by opposition emanating from Chicago, investigation by the accident prevention conference indicates. To some extent, automobile dealers in Chicago and elsewhere through the state have not favored the permit system, but auto manufacturers are now endorsing it, which forecasts similar action by the dealers.

The accident conference, through its spokesmen, insists that the reputation of Illinois motorists as a class is being injured by failure of the state to adopt some standard test for drivers. They point to assertions that Illinois drivers in general are the worst encountered on the nation's highways, made within the last year by two prominent writers, one contributing to a national newspaper chain and the other to a magazine of wide circulation.

The specific accusation against motorists from Illinois is that they are the "wildest" met on the road, exhibiting less regard for ordinary traffic rules and safeguards than those from any other state.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The girls rode 'round for quite a while. Then Coppy shouted, with a smile, "I guess you will admit that at this driving stunt I'm good."

"The whole trip has worked out real nice, and we've just skimmed across the ice. The bear knows I am boss. He does exactly as he should."

It seemed that Coppy spoke too quickly. Just then the big bear pulled a trick. He made a very quick turn and the big sled took a flop.

The tots were thrown into a heap. "My seat," said one, "I couldn't keep. Oh, there our polar bear goes. We must try to make him stop."

Then Coppy loudly shouted,
"Whoa! Don't run away. You mustn't go back to the rest and leave us here. We cannot walk that far."

Soon little Goldy cried, "Look there! He is a real smart polar bear. He turned around, and now he's coming back to where we are."

"Hurray for you," wee Coppy roared. And then once more they hopped aboard. It wasn't very long until they were back with the bunch.

Said Dotty to the Eskimo, "Now can the other Timies go?" "Of course they can," came the reply.
"They'll love it, I've a hunch."

"I'll stay behind," said Scouty.
"I would much prefer, right now, to try my lasso skill. I saw a seal not very far from here."

The others left. One said, "I hope you bring a seal back with your rope. However, you will have a hard time doing it, I fear."

Then toward the seal brave Scouty went. He whirled his rope and then he sent it flying through the air, and toward the animal it sped.

His aim, he quickly found, was true. The next thing that the youngster knew, much to his own surprise the rope dropped o'er the big seal's head.

Act To Check Air Crashes By Using Traffic Control

Washington, Aug. 14.—(AP)—

Seeking to make the airways safer, the bureau of air commerce will institute a wider system of aviation "traffic control" Saturday.

Designed to guide planes flying a country-wide network of arterial "air highways," officials said today, the new regulations will fix altitudes at which the craft must fly. They will also set up standards for "blind flying" by operators of private planes.

Already, the bureau has established "traffic control" stations at the Newark, Cleveland and Chicago airports. It is planning others at Detroit, Pittsburgh, Washington, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

These stations will keep track of all planes moving over the airways and may issue radio orders for changes of speed and direction to insure a smooth flow of traffic with maximum safety.

DAILY

THE FIRST AID KIT

"If you were going on a hike and didn't want to carry a regular first-aid kit, what would you take along?" This is a question frequently asked and the answer is simple:

In the skeleton first-aid kit the essentials would be a roll of two-inch bandage, an ounce or two of fresh tincture of iodine, and a roll of two or three-inch adhesive tape.

With a little ingenuity, these elements would suffice for any ordinary emergency. Beyond this, expert medical help probably would be required.

Soap can serve as a cleansing agent and as a valuable germi-cide. It is not well enough appreciated that few germs can survive being thoroughly washed with soap and water. In some instances the antiseptic effects of soap are to be preferred to those of iodine. For example, in an extensive "skinning" of the shin bone or of any large body surface, provided there are no deep wounds, it is less painful and less disfiguring to wash the part thoroughly with soap and water than it would be to paint the whole surface with iodine.

On the other hand, deep wounds are handled better when they are first washed with soap and water, and then are treated by the instilla-tion of a small amount of iodine.

Adhesive tape has many uses.
The evident ones are to tape up bandages and to keep in place various applications. Adhesive tape, however, may also be used to bring in close apposition the edges of wounds. Adhesive tape may also be effectively employed in protecting denuded surfaces of the skin. For example, a blister formed on the heel after a few hours of hiking may make further walking either an excruciating task or entirely impossible. But by protecting the blistered surface with a cover of adhesive tape the discomfort may be reduced to a minimum. In applying adhesive for such a blister, care must be taken that the underlying surface is not infected.

Adhesive tape can serve in an emergency for a tourniquet, to fix a temporary splint to a fractured limb and in numerous other ways.

weight.

GET RULING ON KIND OF CROPS AFTER HARVEST

Legumes Must Be Seeded
Before Aug. 29 for
Good Stand

On July 11 the ruling caused by the drouth, which permitted the harvesting of grain hay or annual legume hay (soy beans) and yet allowed the land to be classed as soil conserving provided a good stand of soil conserving crop is growing on the land when performance is checked this fall was made public by the Illinois agricultural conservation office.

At that time the kind, rate and time of seeding for the soil conserving crop was not released. This week the necessary information was received. Excerpts from the communication follow:

It has been decided by the north central region that the only official standards to be established with reference to the soil conserving crops are: A good stand on the date as of which the final inspection of the farm is made for the purpose of determining performance, such stand to be of a grass or legume that would normally survive the winter; if a nurse crop is used, such nurse crop was not seeded at a rate in excess of one-half the normal rate of seeding when such crop is seeded alone for grain.

Since performance on land from which grain has been harvested will be determined only on the basis of a good stand, it is important a good seed bed be prepared and that all weeds be killed before seeding of a soil conserving crop on the land. Thorough disking and rolling will usually be more conducive to the establishment of a firm seed bed than plowing and harrowing. If a legume is used it should be seeded prior to Aug. 20 for reasonable assurance of a good stand. In the case of seeding any legume the producer should determine whether the soil is sufficiently sweet to permit a good growth of such legume. Where adaptable any of the following seedings may be used:

Alfalfa, 12 to 15 pounds per acre; sweet clover (scarified) 10 to 12 pounds per acre; alsike clover, 5 to 6 pounds per acre; red top, 7 to 10 pounds per acre; timothy, 8 to 10 pounds per acre; a mixture of any of the above legumes and grasses as desired.

Recommended seedings following harvest of legume hay (soy beans and cow peas).

It is recognized that the soy bean or cow pea hay will need to be cut rather early in order to seed a conserving crop which will show a good stand by the time performance is checked after Sept. 30. Furthermore it must be recognized that the available plant food will be less than normal when a crop follows so closely the harvesting of the hay and there is less assurance of a reliable stand.

While Astor Revelations Rocked Hollywood

In any case it is suggested that the seeding of the soil conserving crop be accompanied by a light seeding of oat (20 to 25 pounds per acre) in order to provide a winter cover for this land. If wheat or rye is used the rate of seeding must not be in excess of the rate of seeding for a harvest crop. The following suggested seedings of soil conserving crops may be used:

Alfalfa, 12 to 15 pounds per acre and red clover 10 to 15 pounds per acre, in connection with the oats cover crop, seeded prior to August 20, timothy, 10 to 12 pounds per acre; red top 7 to 10 pounds per acre; timothy and red top may be mixed with the total equaling 12 to 15 pounds per acre.

For the purpose of having a more satisfactory pasture later is recommended in connection with the grass seedings listed above, that legume seedings be made during the winter or early spring, rather than this fall.

Sweet clover may be seeded in the late fall if unhulled seed is used at the rate of 20 to 25 pounds per acre or 10 to 12 pounds of hulled seed planted at the usual time in the spring. The other recommendations are, red clover 10 to 12 pounds, alsike 3 to 5 pounds, lespedeza 10 to 15 pounds, all planted at the usual time or any combination of clovers.

Socialists Told to Leave Warsaw: They Heeded Order

Chicago, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Prof. Maynard C. Krueger, Illinois secretary of the Socialist party, mapped plans today to return to Warsaw, Ill., despite his declaration that he and two union organizers were "run out of town" by vigilantes.

In a complaint which he said he sent yesterday to Governor Henry Horner, Krueger asserted he and Samuel Laderman, Chicago official of the Pocketbook Workers Union, and C. H. Mayer of Carlinville, Ill., were told to leave Warsaw last Saturday.

"We went there to arrange for a public meeting at which we planned to tell the Warsaw people about sweatshop conditions in the pocketbook industry," he said. "There is a factory there."

"Five tall, strong fellows approached and told us we had ten minutes to get out of town," the University of Chicago professor said. "One man tried to drag Laderman out of the car."

"We sought out Town Marshal Guy Bell and asked him to take us under his protection to the mayor. He advised us to get out of Warsaw. So we went."

Text of Col. Frank Knox's Speech at Huntington, W. Va., Thursday Night

Mr. Chairman, members of the Republican party of West Virginia: I judge from the size of this gathering that there are a good many Republicans in West Virginia. It is a great pleasure to greet you. You are veterans of the political wars, and the political wars in your state are real wars. The state of West Virginia was born in a time of national division on issues vital to the life of the nation. Your people were nurtured in political controversy. I have the feeling that a West Virginia Republican is a very real Republican, with a large chip on his shoulder.

I judge, also, from the greeting you have given me, that you Republicans of West Virginia are enthusiastic about the future. You are right. From Maine to California there is a great ground-swell of public support of the Republican campaign and of the Republican candidate for the presidency, Governor Alf Landon. You have good reason for your confidence in the results of the November election.

People Are Practical

Let me tell you the real reason why our ticket will win next November. The fundamental reason is that the American people are a practical people. They cannot be fooled indefinitely. It was the first Republican president in our history who said you can fool all the people some of the time and some of the people all the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time.

In the American people there is a canny streak of common sense. The abstractions of economic theory have little appeal to them. But they are themselves shrewd and practical economists. They understand the eternal verities in a hard practical sense. And they know that the present administration is too expensive a luxury to continue four more years.

As Al Smith would say, let's look at the record. In the summer of 1932 the people of America were in deep distress. They were at the bottom point of a grievous depression that had been for three years bringing misery and heartache to this country and to all the world. Our factories were idle, our stores were stagnant, our mines were shut down, our farms were bankrupt. Finance was discouraged and investment was stopped. Unemployment and destitution had their grip on the lives of the people. It was that darkest period before the dawn. The source of all this misery was a world war, which had destroyed capital and demoralized currencies and ruined international trade.

Sold False Proposition

At this lowest point of distress the Democratic party set out to sell the American people the false proposition that the Republican administration then in office was responsible for the depression. It set out to sell the American people the false proposition that a depression caused by a world war was due to mistakes of the Republican administration. It set out to sell the American people the false proposition that it could and would end the depression by establishing a better government. It held out to a suffering people false promises that it would cure unemployment and restore markets and revive industry by act of Congress.

Do you recall what those promises were? Read the Democratic platform of 1932. Read the speeches of its candidate for the presidency. There was a promise to reduce the cost of government. There was a promise to balance the budget. There was a promise to reduce taxes. There was a promise to keep government out of private business. There was a promise to encourage private enterprise. There was a promise to restore agricultural production. There was a promise to lower the tariff. There was a promise to preserve a sound currency. Believe it or not, there was a promise to reduce the number of federal employees and to abolish government commissions, committees, corporations, and agencies. A majority of the American people, beaten and worn by depression, accepted these promises and entrusted their government to these promises. Your own state of West Virginia was one of the states that accepted these promises.

Hash of Promises

You all know what happened. The present administration made hash of every one of these promises. Every plank in their platform was thrown overboard. Every promise was broken. What hidden forces led this administration to embark on its road to ruin may never be known. Historians of the future will tell our descendants that the years 1933 and 1934 constitute the strangest and most incomprehensible period of misgovernment in our history.

This administration embarked on a series of blind, reckless, and cruelly expensive experiments on the vital institutions of American economic life. It inaugurated a policy of blind expenditure of the people's money. It established policies that undermined credit and currency. It forced experiments that harried business and restricted production. It began at once to create an enormous Federal bureaucracy, the largest in any government in the history of the world.

Menace to Recovery

From the beginning thoughtful people saw in these broken promises and strange experiments and reckless expenditures not only a breach of trust but a menace to recovery. Within the Democratic party itself distinguished leaders like Senator Glass and Senator Gore and Governor Smith and your own West Virginian, John W. Davis, realized that this mad course would injure the nation.

But the masses of our people still relied on the promises of recovery, still believed in the good faith of the administration. Under the stimulation of the most powerful government propaganda in history, they demanded that the administration be given its way. In Congress both Republican and Democratic members went with the tide. In all American history no administration has had such complete freedom to carry out its policies. In 1933 and 1934 the American people said to the Roosevelt administration: "We are in economic distress. You promised to end our troubles. We do not understand your program, but we trust you. Go ahead."

What People Got

What did the people get in return for this complete confidence? They got the AAA, which took bread and clothes from the poor. They got NRA, which reduced production and retarded recovery. They got 800,000 Federal employees, chosen by the Farley system of selection. They got more than 50 new government boards, commissions, agencies and committees to interfere with American business and regiment the lives of the people.

What the American people got was three years of continuous economic vaudeville. It has been a grand show. In the words of the theatrical press agent, it has been stupendous and colossal. In one ring we have had Mr. Ickes, with his famous illusions act, giving the people illusions of permanent public works and better housing. In another ring we have had Mr. Wallace, in his famous disappearing act, in which he makes food and clothes disappear before the eyes of the people. In another ring we have had Mr. Morgenthau, with his famous juggling and balancing act, in which he juggles the dollar while trying to balance the budget. It has been the most prolonged and the most expensive amateur hour in history. In November, the American people will give all these performers the gong.

Few Breathing Spells

It has been a grand show. But the people have grown tired of it. There are not enough breathing spells between the acts. It costs too much. The people have grown nervous, watching the glittering balls juggled in mid-air. Too many have been broken. Even the Democrats are walking out on the show.

Some cynic has said that republicans are ungrateful. Another has said that the people have short memories. But the American people do remember the promises made to them in 1932. They were promised an orderly and economical government. For a time they were led astray by the Pied Pipers of economic experiment. In their distress they approved economic quackery. For a time they were dazzled by the pinwheels and the rockets of New Deal fire-works.

But they were not fooled permanently. They know now the economic truths that put to shame the extravagances of the present administration. The past three years have given the American people an invaluable demonstration of elementary economic principles. These truths may be harsh but they are valuable. The lesson may be expensive, but it is worth the cost. One of the truths is that a world depression cannot be cured by economic tricks. Depressions grow out of morbid and diseased conditions in our economic system. The world depression of our time was caused by the dislocations of war, followed by unnatural conditions in trade and currencies. Such a situation cures itself by wiping out the diseased conditions. A political administration that pretends to be able to end a world depression by economic sleight-of-hand is a hypocritical administration or an ignorant administration, and America does not want either kind.

The reckless experiments have ended in failure and disaster. The wreckage is all about us. There remains only to clean up the wreckage and pay the bill. It is a large bill. It was a long spree and there was lots of breakage. And our American people are now aware of the size of that bill. They want to make it as small as possible. They do not want to see it increased. And that is the reason they want a change of administration. As the experiments of 1933 failed, the present administration became frenzied and hysterical. It adopted the fatal policy of pouring good money after bad. Its policy finally degenerated into a general program of squandering its way out of its difficulties.

Examines Bill

Let's look briefly at some of the aspects of this bill, incurred in the past 3 years, which the people must pay. There is first of all the Federal debt. When the present administration took office in March, 1933, the Federal debt was 21 billion dollars. Today it is more than 34 billion dollars. Three years of Federal activity have added 13 billion dollars to the burden of Federal debt. That is $110 for every man, woman, and child in the country. That new load has been added to a debt of $150 already outstanding. A baby born today will start life with a debt of $260 on his shoulders.

If this stupendous increase in the burden of debt had been forced by the failure of government revenues, it would have been excusable. If the depression had reduced government revenues from taxation to the vanishing point, it would have been necessary to face deficits to meet the costs of relief and the ordinary expenses of government. But there is no such excuse. This weight of debt has come from waste and extravagance and costly experimentation above and beyond a cruel pressure of taxation. Last year the receipts from Federal taxation were just under 4 billion dollars, nearly a half billion more than they were in the abnormally prosperous year of 1929. While the national income has been falling to the lowest levels known for a generation the taxation of the people by the national government has been steadily increasing. The debt load of the people has been increasing while they paid current taxes higher than they have ever borne except in time of war.

Downfall in Figures

Figures are dull things, but the story of a nation's downfall can sometimes be told in figures. In 1929, in the midst of an unparalleled prosperity, the nation's income was 80 billions of dollars. In that year of plenty the cost of government in America, Federal and local, was 12 billion dollars. Last year the national income was about 53 billion dollars, and the cost of government in the United States was more than 15 billions. In the space of six years the cost of government in this country has grown from one-seventh to more than one-fourth of the nation's income.

Road to Disaster

This primrose path of governmental squandering leads only to disaster. The steady progress of natural recovery is hampered by the burden of taxes and shadowed by the fear of inflation. The road of history is strewn with the wrecks of nations engulfed by waste of the people's money. The Roman Republic collapsed under the weight of taxes. The French Revolution was set alight by the rebellion of an over-taxed people. The American Revolution was the result of long smoldering resentment of unjust taxation.

The money wages of the American worker have risen since 1932, from the progress of natural recovery. The price of the city worker's food has risen 20 per cent under the New Deal. The cost of his clothing has been increased 13 per cent. And the American worker faces today the possibility of that ruinous rise in the cost of living which comes from inflation of currency and credit.

It is a law of our social order that a bureaucracy grows by what it feeds upon. Once a government starts on a career of waste it finds itself unable to stop. A government once embarked on a policy of subsidies and gifts must maintain itself by further subsidies. For a people faced with this situation there is only one answer, and that is to install another government.

Americans Must Pay

The American people must pay for this orgy of extravagance. There has been much talk about soaking the rich. To the plain man, working hard for a limited wage, soaking the rich seems an easy arrangement for meeting the cost of government. In practice it does not work out that way. There are laws of economics and mathematics working here, and these laws operate to limit the soaking of the rich. Beyond these limits, taxing the rich destroys wealth and capital, reducing investment, reducing production, and reducing wages. No administration has so paraded its love for the plain people, especially around election time. But the figures on taxation do not confirm this affection. In the year 1930, under the Republican administration, income taxes and corporation taxes, which come generally from the well-to-do, totalled two and a half billion dollars, while the taxes on consumers, the hidden taxes paid by the wages of the people, were less than one and one-half billions. In the year 1935, under the present administration, the income and corporation taxes had fallen to less than one and one-half billions, while the taxes on consumers had doubled to two and one-half billions. The share of the burden of taxes borne by the mass of the people has arisen under the New Deal from 30 per cent to 60 per cent. My authority for this statement is the President of the United States.

Uncontrollable Limits

To many people it seems a just and feasible arrangement to pay the expense of government from taxation of rich and powerful corporations. Here again there are limits set by forces beyond the control of government. When corporations are taxed beyond reasonable limits the burden falls, not upon the stockholders, but upon the general public. Confiscatory taxes on corporations result in the destruction of assets, and this means higher costs for goods and lower wages for the workers. Last year in New England the largest cotton mill in the world closed down for good. Seven thousand workers were thrown out of work. There were various causes of this unhappy affair, but taxation was a major element.

In our American society there should be no antagonism between the worker and the stockholder. Our capitalist system rests on the corporation, large and small. This capitalist system has grave defects. There are inequalities in it. But it has built the greatest productivity in the history of mankind. It has given the American worker the highest wages in all history. The man who would tear down this marvelous system when there is no equally productive system to replace it is an enemy of his country. I want to see our economic system purged of its injustices. I want to see it preserved for its benefits.

Real Share the Wealth

I want more than that. I want to see in the future a real share-the-wealth development in this land. I want to see an increasing share in the profits of this system going to the workers. I want to see this come about, not by any suicidal scheme of destruction, but by an extension of the ownership of corporation shares by the workers. Unseen and noticed, this process has been going on for a long time. There are 12 million owners of corporate shares in this country today. War and depression have temporarily set back this great movement. It will begin again. In this movement lies the prospect of a genuine share-the-wealth program. In it there is the prospect of industrial peace in this country.

But a government bent on squandering the nation's assets can offer no prospect of human betterment. Nations in the past have eaten out their own substance in this fashion. The sober common sense of this American people is aware of the situation. The Republican party offers the people an escape from the weight of debt that now presses upon them. It offers a way to avoidance of the inevitable inflation that present policies insure. On this one issue of economy in government, of sanity in expenditures, of wisdom in budget making, the Republican party can win the battle. But it offers more. It promises to free enterprise from the shackles of bureaucratic regimentation. It promises to preserve American enterprise for that great future it offers to the American worker. The prophets of doom who picture Americans of the future as a race of exploited workers serving an aristocracy of entrenched greed slander the American worker as well as the American managers of business. There are relentless and unstoppable forces in our American system that guarantee for the future American worker shorter hours and higher wages and greater social opportunities. The Republican party promises to encourage these forces—not to destroy the system which makes them possible.

No Partisan Spirit

In making these promises the Republican party makes them not to one group, one class, one section, but to all groups, all classes, all sections. It offers them in no partisan spirit. I speak to you as one Republican to other Republicans. But I do so with a deep consciousness of the fact that this campaign is far more than a partisan campaign to restore the Republican party to office. This is a campaign to restore sanity in government, to bring about economy in government costs, to renew free enterprise. The campaign is not against the Democratic party. That party does not represent the strange and un-American policies that have misgoverned the nation for the past three years. The great leaders of that party have repudiated these policies. Their party has been seized by alien forces, forces that have no kinship with the Democratic party which has traditionally stood for freedom of institutions and moderation in government no less than the Republican party. Go out and fight to win West Virginia for our cause in November. But go out with the understanding that the fight is not only for the Republican party, but for the whole nation.

FATHER FIGHTS PAROLE OF HIS SON'S SLAYER

Chicago, Aug. 14. — (AP) — The pardon or commutation petition of Harold J. Croarkin, 36, faced opposition today from Policeman Walter Schmuth of suburban Niles Center, father of the 6-year-old boy for whose murder in 1926 Croarkin was sentenced to life in Joliet prison.

In a plea filed with the state pardon and parole board, Croarkin denied he was the killer of Walter Frederick Schmuth, found fatally beaten in a riding stable loft.

The petition blamed the slaying on a negro stable hand and explained Croarkin shielded him at the time of the trial ten years ago because of threats. Croarkin's attorneys offered an unsuccessful insanity defense.

Patrolman Schmuth asked the Cook county state's attorney yesterday to fight Croarkin's attempt to gain freedom. "If he is released he will be a menace to other children," Schmuth declared.

The Schmuth boy, dying of wounds inflicted with a hammer, was found in the loft by two priests led to the scene by Croarkin. The boy died in a hospital a few hours later. Investigators declared Croarkin confessed he beat the lad with a hammer.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

LINCOLN'S WAR SECRETARY

ABRAHAM LINCOLN is credited with having conducted the Civil War through its four years of bitter struggle. But it was Edwin McMasters Stanton, secretary of war in Lincoln's cabinet, who toiled alongside the famous president in that trying time.

Stanton, born in 1814, had lived an early life of almost constant hard work, and so was prepared for the grueling day and night job as war secretary. The eldest of four children, he became an orphan at 13, and clerked in a bookstore to help keep the family.

He went to Kenyon College in Ohio, and took up the practice of law at Columbia and Pittsburgh.

His first wife, whom he had wed in 1836, died in 1844, and he married again in 1856. Soon afterward, President Buchanan appointed him attorney general, and he was in retirement only 10 months when President Lincoln made him his war secretary. Six years of hard work at this post, and Stanton's health was undermined. He resigned in 1868. Not long afterward, however, President Grant appointed him to the supreme court. It was a short-lived honor.

Four days after his confirmation by the Senate, in 1869, he died.

One of the stamps, issued in 1870, bears his portrait.

DODGE DEALERS PLEDGE CHECKS ON USED AUTOS

Details of Program Announced by Newman Brothers

To place the buying of used cars and used trucks still more securely on a basis of reliability and confidence, it is the purpose of a unique plan which the Dodge Division of Chrysler Corporation is introducing to the public through its organization of over 5000 dealers.

According to Edward Newman, of the local Dodge and Plymouth dealers, the company has now reached proportions warranting the giving out of details to the used-vehicle-buying public whose interests are to be safeguarded by the new plan.

Mr. Newman says, "In earlier days of used-car selling, dealers often were handicapped by the idea of buyers that it meant the purchasing of 'second-hand' or 'below-par' vehicles and that buyers took certain risks in the transaction.

"Especially as far as Dodge dealers are concerned, that attitude is without grounds," explained Mr. Newman.

"Today the motorist realizes that when he purchases a used automobile or used truck, the most important element in the transaction is the honor and integrity of the manufacturer that made it. In addition, the purchaser relies on the honor and integrity of the dealer selling him a vehicle that has had some previous use."

"Since expanding new-car sales inevitably lead to more used-vehicle business, we are putting into operation a Blue-Seal Dependability Plan under which Dodge dealers, after formally pledging themselves to conduct their used-vehicle selling in keeping with certain carefully considered procedures, are authorized to display a distinctive blue seal on their establishments, on the used vehicles they offer for sale, in their advertisements, etc. Simple as all this may sound, it demands much more from the dealer than merely the adoption of an improved selling technique.

"The Dodge dealer authorized to display the blue seal in the form of store signs, billboards, banners and in other ways is one who has signed a formal pledge to subject his used vehicles to a detailed check-up of the three elements of appearance, mechanical condition and price-worthiness. The check-up findings, preserved in the dealers' files, are repeated in condensed form on a blue-seal tag attached to the vehicle; the dependability assurance is also indicated by blue seal stickers pasted on the windshields of cars offered for sale by blue-seal-pledged Dodge dealers.

"The blue seal pledge, when signed by the Dodge dealer, constitutes an agreement. The right of the dealer to advertise, display and sell used cars and trucks bearing the Dodge dealer's Dependability Seal and Triple Check tag will be evoked—where such action is warranted.

Wins Contest

J. L. Glassburn has just announced that D. C. Monahan, 520 Peoria Ave., Dixon, (above) has been awarded a prize in the contest conducted by "Wonderful" magazine, Chevrolet dealers' publication. Mr. Monahan is being congratulated by his many friends for having been successful in this contest.

RACKETEERS GET MILLIONS EVADING GAS TAXES

Millions of dollars in gasoline tax money go annually into the pockets of racketeers who successfully evade the gasoline tax laws.

Excessively high rates, wide discrepancies between rates in adjacent states, and loopholes in the law are primarily responsible for this situation. Even where rates are not exorbitant, existence of slipshod refund and exemption provisions has made easy pickings for the gas tax dodger, and many of the states are now considering substantial strengthening of their tax laws.

Recent uncovering of large-scale gasoline bootlegging and tax evasion rings in at least four states has emphasized as never before the vast amount of revenue that is lost to the states as the result of these depredations.

Not only do the states lose money when the taxes are evaded, but, in addition, the motorist taxpayers do not get the roads that the revenue should provide for them. In short, gasoline tax refunds during the year amounted to $26,968,000 while the exemptions, based on an average tax, would amount to approximately $37,070,000, making a total of $64,038,000 in taxes not collected on gasoline sold.

Every precaution should be taken to make absolutely certain that racketeers are not getting any share of these millions of dollars. In addition to evading the gas tax, some

Guest Suit Law Now in Effect in 26 States of U. S.

Guest suit laws, limiting liability of the car owner for damage sustained by non-paying passengers in his car, are now in effect in twenty-six states, including Illinois.

Under the common law the operator was held accountable at law for any injuries sustained by other persons riding in his car whether or not the driver was at fault in the accident in which the car was involved.

It was to correct this situation, which often brought about injustices, that the guest laws were evolved. In general, they provide that passengers cannot bring suit against the operator unless they can prove gross negligence, wanton disregard of rights or an intentional act of carelessness on the part of the driver.

Iowa and Connecticut were pioneers in this type of legislation. In both of which these laws became effective in July, 1927. During the past year, seven additional states adopted guest suit laws, and today they are in effect in the following jurisdictions:

Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Kansas, Michigan, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, South Carolina, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Washington and Wyoming.

The practice of giving rides to hitch-hikers is dangerous everywhere, but in states without guest suit laws there is the added hazard that the over-generous motorist may be faced with a costly suit filed by the hitch-hiker in the event of an accident.

During 1934, about 1,564,274,000 gallons of gasoline were sold subject to exemption from the gas tax or refund of all or part of the tax. Unscrupulous dealers have gone so far as to blend inferior, tax-free products, such as kerosene, with the gasoline. In these cases, the motorist suffers not only from tax evasion but also from poor engine operation.

According to Dr. J. Allison Glover, of the London Board of Education, memory is best between the ages of 11 and 14.

FLAMBEAU TRIP FINE FOR WEEK END VACATION

Motor Club Outlines Fine Journey For Dixon Motorists

August sun is bright on scores of forest-circled lakes in Wisconsin's Lac du Flambeau Indian reservation, 347 miles from Dixon.

When you have a long week-end ahead, try the Flambeau trip," said W. J. Sequin, local manager of the Chicago Motor club yesterday. "If you are looking for resort country with all the comforts of the city or for real wilderness or for a combination of the two, you can find your sort of vacation in the North Woods of Wisconsin."

The route recommended leads northward from Dixon over U. S. 52 to its junction with Ill. 26 beyond Polo, then via Ill. 26 and 74 and Wis. 69 (the same road) to Verona. From Verona take U. S. 18 into Madison and U. S. 51 northward to Minocqua. Then take Wis. 70 to its junction with the county road D and follow D northeast into the town of Lac du Flambeau. Excavated toward the end, the route is of concrete in good repair. After the motorist reaches the North Woods, however, there are a few miles of gravel road.

The Flambeau region is predominantly the water man's country. Fishing is famous, but veteran anglers are unfortunate in one respect. The fish are so large that it is almost impossible to exaggerate about those who get away. Swimming, especially in August, is ideal. The lakes are warm and so clean that boatmen do not hesitate to dip up drinking water from their centers. The lakes, belong, however, through historical precedent to the canoeist, who finds canals connecting chain after chain.

Chippewas There The Chippewas, who still live on the reservation, were the first canoeists on these waters. They have not forgotten their skill today. At one of their powwows of recent years a champion canoe crew from a business men's camp challenged the Chippewas to a race. The bucks declined to compete and sent out the squaws to uphold the honor of the tribe. The squaws were easy victors.

Before the tourist came to Flambeau, the lumberman were there. They built the canals between the lakes to float their logs to market.

EXECUTIVES INSPECT 12,000,000TH CHEVROLET

Chevrolet No. 12,000,000, which rolled off the assembly line at Flint on Aug. 5, is being displayed in the General Motors Building for a few days, prior to leaving for the Texas Centennial, via the Great Lakes Exposition at Cleveland. Here A. W. Dean, sign-writer, is shown preparing it for exhibition, while officials of Chevrolet look on. Mr. Coyle is president and general manager of the region of all its timber. Virgin last century, they had not denuded stands of pine remain on many of these islands in the larger lakes. Vigorous second growth as wild as the first has sprung up to cover the shores again. There is plenty of game on the reservation, including deer and in the winter, an occasional timber wolf. It is still traditional among the Indians that a lad does not attain manhood until he has slain his first deer.

Visitors who hesitate to lose touch with the sports of everyday life will find in Flambeau baseball as played by the Chippewas against various white teams. The Indians have their own ball park, a wooden structure, filled by the tribe and tourists on every Sunday that the home team plays in Flambeau. For souvenirs there are numerous trinkets including bead-work and toy birch-bark canoes sold in the stores of the town.

There is one more thing to remember about Flambeau. It has no movie theater, so vacationists are assured of a real change from ordinary life.

OLDS EXPANDS.

Geo. Murray, Oldsmobile dealer, has just been informed by officials of the Oldsmobile factory that they will spend $5,350,000 for expansion of production facilities during the fall months. Oldsmobile is now in fifth place in national production, a showing that retail conditions are much improved in all lines of business. The picture show put on last night by Mr. Murray at his Oldsmobile show room, showing the complete manufacturing of an Oldsmobile drew a good sized audience who were appreciative of an opportunity to see how a car is built.

The Stars of Yesterday

THE STARS OF THE SHOW OF 1905

Following is a clipping from the New York papers of January, 1905: "Again the Ford cars hold the center of the stage of the New York Auto Show. Experienced motorists were enthusiastic in praise of Henry Ford's advanced ideas. The universal inquiry was 'What has Ford done this year?' emphasized the fact that the automobile world looks to Henry Ford for the ultimate perfection of motor driven vehicles."

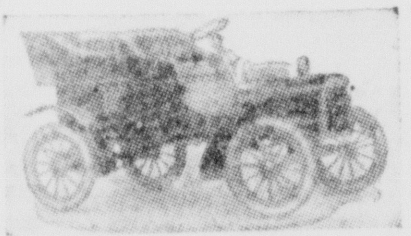

The above three Ford cars shown in the stars were on exhibit at this show. The Model C priced at $950, and the Model B priced at $2,000. Compare these cars with the advanced 1936 Model Ford V-8 as pictured below, and consider the great advantages of the present day motorists when these new Ford automobiles may be purchased as low as $520 f. o. b.

Today in almost every city, of the size of Dixon or larger, the motoring public will find a Ford dealer with more precision equipment and a larger stock of parts than the factory possessed at the time these 1905 cars were shown in the New York Show. Henry Ford, with the Ford Dealers, has rendered a real service to the motoring public, a service that has created everlasting confidence. This trust is brought because of Ford's responsibility of forcing the present low cost and high efficient safety automobile transportation to these millions of motor enthusiasts.

COLLEGE TEAM CAN HIT HARD HALAS CLAIMS

Lions Will Realize Pro Teams Can Get Knocks

By GEORGE HALAS
Head Coach, Chicago Bears

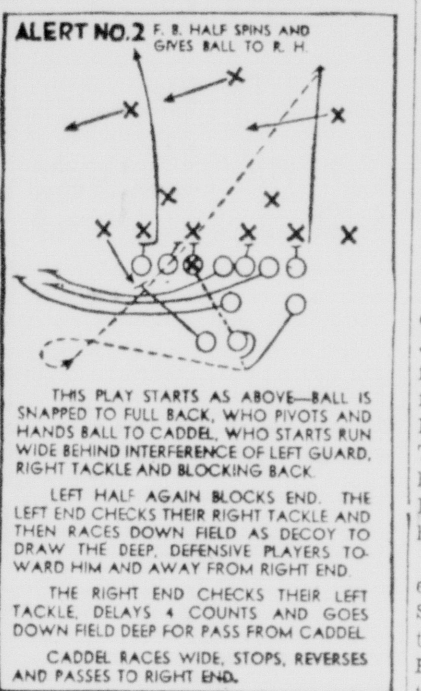

Any members of the Chicago Bears will tell you that his personal bones were jarred aplenty in the encounters with the All Americans in the games of 1934 and 1935.

The Detroit Lions have yet to learn how hard the collegians hit. Yesterday, I mentioned some of the reasons why these boys are pitched so high that they play the games of their lives.

For example, big Ed Krause of Notre Dame, while he was a great college player, never turned in a finer performance than he did against the Bears in the 1934 game. Others who stand out in my memory of that game are Bernard of Michigan; Schwammel of Oregon State; Hupke of Alabama; Everhardus of Michigan and Laws of Iowa.

Unknown a Headache

In last year's game a comparative "unknown," Tony Blazine of Illinois Wesleyan, gave us a severe headache. Other standouts were Don Hutson of Alabama, Bill Shepherd of Western Maryland, who will be with the Lions in this year's contest; Larry Selmering of San Francisco University; Regis Monahan of Ohio State; Bill Lee of Alabama; and John Regazzi of Michigan, whose long punts caused us no end of trouble. The kicking of Bill Shakespeare of Notre Dame will help keep the Lions away from the All Americans doorstep in the impending fray.

One big reason for the fine performances of the All Americans is that they go into the game in great physical shape. And there will be 35 of these splendidly conditioned athletes on the All-American squad. Fifty five! That's not a squad, it's a horde! Furthermore, they are not green sophomores. They have been seasoned by three years of varsity competition after high school and freshman football.

A college athlete of twenty-two or twenty-three is never very far away from good physical shape. The three weeks of hard work on the practice field bring him to the peak. The older professional players are much slower in rounding into shape.

Worked on Tackle

For instance, in the 1934 game, Joe Laws of Iowa, on many plays, was assigned on our veteran tackle, Ling Lyman, then playing his 280th football game. I would not have you believe that Laws pushed Lyman around. No living human has ever done that. But after the game, Joe Laws joined the Green Bay Packers and later in the season was assigned to block Lyman. In the dressing room afterward, Laws said he could not believe that Lyman was the same man he had met at Soldiers' Field. Link, having rounded into condition, was again the stalwart lineman who four years was one of the two greatest tackles in the history of the Bears.

I hope the Detroit Lions will read the ensuing paragraph. In 1934 the Bears took the All Americans lightly. Only Link Lyman, Red Grange and I realized what we were up against, but we could not change the mental attitude of the rest of the Bears. As a result, we were no more ready for the collegians than Joe Laws was prepared for Schmeling's crashing right hand.

An Aside to Clark

And here's an aside to Coach Patsy Clark in my best stage whisper. This has been a bad year for Detroit headlines in sports. The Tigers, world champions in baseball in 1935, are now merely members of the American League. Joe Louis got "his'n" and the Detroit Lions—may profit by their example.

In 1935, the Bears took the All Americans more seriously and won

Alexander Special Softball Outfit Is Victor Over Cats

The Alexander Specials, a Negro softball team defeated the West End Wildcats Wednesday evening in an extra-inning battle 9 to 8.

The Specials scored three runs in the second inning, one in the third, two in the fourth, two in the fifth and one in the eighth. The Cats scored one in the first and were held scoreless by the clever twirling of E. Buggs until the seventh, when after two were out, they pounded in six runs to tie the score.

In the eighth frame, R. Collins tripled and was driven home by a single from Ashford's bat, which settled the game. Batteries for the Specials were E. Buggs and Swain, and for the Cats, Nicklaus, and Mansch and F. Nicklaus.

by five points. In that connection I got a chuckle out of the post-game statement of Charley Bachman, head coach at Michigan State, who was elected to the All American coaching staff in 1935. He said, in effect, that the rain during the second half cost the All Americans the game. As in any other game, football pays off on points scored, not on rhetoric. But little does Charley Bachman reckon that the Bears had planned to shoot the works in that second half. We had saved up our most deceptive running and passing plays, with the idea of springing them on the collegians when they could not work out a defense against them, with the coaches, between halves. The second half downpour made the ball as slippery as a watermelon seed and called for a straight attack.

Floberg Holding Tri-State Junior Golf Crown Today

Chicago, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Arthur Floberg of Rockford, Ill., as the result of steady golf that carried him through a field of nearly 200 young sharpshooters, held the Tri-State junior golf championship today.

Floberg won the title at Lincolnshire Country Club, beating Johnny Dixon of Chicago in a 36 hole final 5 and 4. Floberg, whose march to the title included a hard-fought one-up victory in 19 holes over a fellow townsman, Johnny Hobart, gained a six-up lead over Dixon on the morning 18 and then coasted home.

FATHER TIME IS FOOLED BY HOYT'S SKILL

Appendicitis Did Not Remove Him From League

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Old Pop Time thought he had the third strike on comebacker Waite Hoyt this season, but he's found out now it was only a base on balls.

Since early in May when Hoyt underwent an emergency appendicitis operation, it had appeared as though his career was over. But the actor-singer-pitcher had a hearty laugh at the expense of the old man with the scythe no later than yesterday when he made his first start since his recovery and stopped the Cincinnati Reds with seven hits and the Pirates chalked up a 5-4 victory.

Hoyt has been around the big-time 19 years now, the oldest hurler in point of service in either league.

Didn't Help Pirates

Hoyt's win yesterday didn't help the Pirates at all in their efforts to get back to third place in the National league, for the high-flying Giants, who have a firm grip on that spot in the race, also took their game, trouncing the Phillies 6-4.

Rookie Jim Rippie and veteran Travis Jackson hit homers in a game-clinching fifth-inning spree. The triumph boosted the Giants to a slim three games off the pace set by the Cardinals, and only two games back of the second place Cubs, both of whom were idle yesterday, along with the Bees and Dodgers in the National league, and the Yankees, Athletics, Red Sox and Senators in the American.

The Cleveland Indians cut the Yankees' league lead to 11 games by belting the Tigers 8-0, with Johnny Allen turning in a four-hit pitching job.

The Browns again proved too much for the White Sox, taking a 7-3 decision behind Al Thomas' seven-hit hurling.

Wrestling Waltz Hooted By Crowd

New York, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Those of the 500 fans who remained for the finish of the weird wrestling "waltz" Strangler Lewis and Lee Wycoff put on at the Hippodrome last night wondered today if the two opponents couldn't qualify for a dancing contest.

With the crowd hooting and stamping almost from the first minute, the two grapplers locked arms behind each other's heads and waited around the ring for two hours without once going to the mat and with only two headlocks by Lewis enlivening the tableau.

At the end, still locked in their walking embrace, they stumbled simultaneously, fell over the ropes and the press row, and both took the count of ten on their backs in two hours, 14 minutes and 45 seconds.

Stokes Shoots 30 at Plum Hollow; Record Low Count For Nine Holes of Play

WLS Radio Stars Amuse Guests in Evening

Tom Stokes, cleaning up on all the individual prizes there were to be offered, shot a 30 for nine-holes, setting a new nine-hole low score for Plum Hollow's links and tied the 18-hole record with a 37-30 for a 67 at the second summer stag party there Thursday afternoon.

Stokes approached to within two feet of the cup on his twenty-eighth stroke and tried to hole out for a 29, but his nerves got the best of him at this juncture and missing the short putt he was forced to accept a 30, which nevertheless was the all-time mark anyway. His complete card read:

Out . . . . . 3-4-5-5-3-4-4-6-3-37
In . . . . . 3-4-3-3-2-5-4-3-3-30
Other low scores turned in for 18 holes during the afternoon were Al Huffman, 74; Mark Keller, Jr., 79; Larry Poole, 82; Ed Detweiler, 82; George Banta, 85; Leo Miller, 85; Harold Rorer, 85; Dr. Legner, 91; C. B. Lindell, 96; and Wathen, 98. Paul Brookner took the booby prize with a 101.

Low putts were won by Stokes also in his clean sweep of the day's events. His total was 24 putts for 18 holes. Al Huffman shot 25 putts, Leo Miller, 25, Ed Detweiler, 26, and H. Rorer, 28.

The Harmony Trio which won first prize at Dixon's amateur hour program sponsored by the Elks here last winter and which appeared over WLS radio station in Chicago, winning Elgin watches for their work, entertained the guests at the clubhouse in the evening where refreshments were served and games were played. The champion golf bowler of the world was also present Ted Taity said.

The scores:

Wathen	48	50-89
Miller	47	38-85
Rorer	40	45-85
Stokes	37	30-67
Brookner	15	50-101
Detweiler	39	43-82

Heavy Rain Drowns Out Softball Tilt Slated Last Night

Heavy rains, the first of the entire summer, drowned out the scheduled game between the Elchlers' Clothiers softball team and the Amboy ten at the airport Thursday night.

The game was to have been a nine-inning affair, and should have been good, as the Elchlers were champions of the Dixon city league in 1935 and Amboy's team that would have played here represents the strongest in the Amboy circuit this summer.

WORK CUT OUT FOR ALL-STARS MENTORS TODAY

Chicago, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The former college football All-Stars who will meet the Detroit Lions at Soldier field the night of Sept. 1 had their work cut out for them today—and the same thing went for their "All-Star" coaching staff.

Head Mentor Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, after seeing uniforms distributed to the 52 members of the collegiate squad, assigned Bo McMillin, Indiana coach, to start instructing the ends in the art of pass receiving. Elmer Layden, Notre Dame, worked with the kickers, while Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern, directed the guards and tackles in getting unlimbered. Lou Little, Columbia, conferred with Bierman over the system of offense to be used.

Because seven of Bierman's 1935 stars are on the squad, the Gopher system of an unbalanced line and a single wing back will be employed by the All-Stars.

LIONS TO SCRIMMAGE

Detroit, Aug. 4.—(AP)—Coach George (Patsy) Clark threw in a bit of skull practice, fulfilling a promise to "turn on all the steam we've got right from the start," as his champion Detroit Lions began today to rehearse in earnest for their Sept. 1 clash with the All-Stars of college football in Chicago.

He announced, after looking over the 20 veterans and 18 rookies who reported for training yesterday, that the first scrimmage would take place Monday. Seldom in past years have the Lions been ready for scrimmage without at least a week of drills but Clark explained that the excellent condition of his men enabled him to speed things up.

BERWANGER HAS CHANCE TO SHOW WHAT HE CAN DO

When He Has Plenty of Help by Real Grid Talent

By WILLIAM WEEKES
Chicago.—(AP)—Jay Berwanger at last will have a chance to show how much football he can play.

The Flying Dutchman from Duquesne, Pa., managed to make himself the most talked about of college gridiron warriors in three years with mediocre University of Chicago teams—but the talk always included the question, "what could the guy do if he had some help?"

Berwanger will be in the starting lineup the night of September 1 when the college all-stars, selected by a vote of fans of the nation, battle against the professional champion Detroit Lions at Soldiers field here.

The stars elected to serve with Berwanger, from their records, are capable of providing all the assistance necessary to give the Marion hero a chance to really put it on. Who could ask for any more support up front than ends like Notre Dame's Wayne Miller and Keith Topping of Stanford; Dick Smith of Minnesota, and Truman Spain of Southern Methodist, for tackles; Vernon Oech, another great Gopher lineman, and Paul Tangora, Northwestern's all-American, at guard; and Gomer Jones of Ohio State, at center?

Is All-American

Berwanger is one of two all-Americans in the backfield. The other one, Riley Smith of Alabama, will be at quarterback. With the Flying Dutchman at halfback will be Bill Shakespeare of Notre Dame, Sheldon Beise, another of Bernie Bierman's great Minnesota array, will start at full.

The opportunity comes just in time for Berwanger. It will be his last game of football, unless he changes his mind. He had a fine offer to turn his great ability in the direction of profit with the Chicago Bears. He chose, instead, to make an immediate start on a business career.

Both sides will be out to score points in big chunks in the third annual battle sponsored by the Chicago Tribune. The collegians of 1934 and 1935 failed to score a point of any kind. The Bears, representing the football-for-profit school, were held to a scoreless draw in the first game, and won last year's struggle only by the accuracy of Jack Manders' toe. The score was 5 to 0, but the other two points were the result of a safety, taken by Bill Shepherd of Western Maryland, when a rain-soaked ball slipped from his hands.

Greenberg Not To Play Again During Season

Detroit, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Homer Hank Greenberg, husky Detroit Tiger first-sacker whose heavy hitting earned him an award as the most valuable player to an American league team last year, is through with baseball for the 1936 season.

Physicians who have been treating his fractured left wrist, on and off, since the World Series that gave the Tigers their first title, conveyed an ultimatum to President Walter O. Briggs of the Detroit club yesterday.

Briggs immediately communicated with Manager Mickey Cochrane, who has himself been benched because of illness. The Bengal pilot was with his team in Cleveland.

Greenberg's continued absence from the lineup will spike Cochrane's plans for a little late-season strategy. The manager had planned to use Greenberg in the outfield, where he could favor his injured wrist during the remainder of the season but at the same time add batting punch to the Detroit attack.

Country club of Dixon counted its second victory over Mau-Nau-Tee-See of Rockford on the local links Thursday afternoon by a score of 33 to 12 in match play.

Dysart of Dixon scored the lowest card of the match, getting a 72, even par for the course both out and in and in 36-36. Dick Durkes, Dixon high school and sectional champion took a 40-35 for 75 defeating Holmstrom, state tourney runner-up by one stroke for a 2-1 victory. Hobart, Rockford, Detweiler, Dixon and Kobb of Rockford each took 74's for other low counts.

Following are the scores of the match:

NELSON MAY BE ZUPPKE CHOICE QUARTERBACK

Champaign, Ill., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Ken Nelson, the husky from Park Ridge, a standout for the past two football seasons, may finish his career at Illinois as Bob Zuppke's first string quarterback.

The wily Zuppke apparently has decided that Wib Henry, who did a big share of the quarterbacking last year, will be more valuable as a halfback, leaving the signal-calling post open. There are other candidates, but Nelson seems to have the edge.

He was just another one of Illinois' unsung heroes in 1934 and 1935. A smart defensive end, he was a solid man at his position, but was one of those fellows who didn't get much publicity. Keen at figuring opposition maneuvers, Nelson blocked three kicks at opportune moments, the most notable coming in the Southern California game last year.

Another lineman, Jack Berner of Morris, also is in line for the job. Berner operated at tackle last season, but showed surprising field general ability during spring practice. He has been handicapped by a trick knee, however, and may not be available.

Two sophomores, Jay Wardley of Joliet, and Dave Strong, a far western youngster, and Bill Charles the hard-luck champion of the squad, will be given chances at the post. Both sophomores were outstanding as yearlings, which, however, doesn't mean much to Zuppke now. Wardley is a big fellow with plenty of speed, while Strong is fleet but lacks size.

Charles played quarter for the "Battling Bees" last year, but has suffered injuries at times when he might have had a chance to break into the varsity lineup. He also has had difficulty handling the ball under pressure.

DUTCH MERMAID BEATS WINGARD AT OLYMPICS

Berlin, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Competing in a steady downpour of rain, Holland's flashy Rita Mastenbroek today captured the first semi-final heat in the Olympic women's 400 meter free style swimming event, beating out Lenore Kight Wingard of Homestead, Pa., by 19 seconds for first place.

Grete Fredericksen of Denmark, who finished third and joined Miss Mastenbroek and Mrs. Wingard in qualifying for the final, led all the way to the 200 meter mark, but the Dutch star forged ahead in the next 100 meters and won easily, virtually coasting to the finish line. Miss Mastenbroek's time was 5:40.3.

Ragnhild Hveger of Denmark, who hung up a new Olympic record of 5:28 in winning her first trial yesterday, made a runaway of the second heat, winning by four lengths over Azevedo Coutinho of Brazil and Miss Kojima of Japan. Mary Lou Petty of Seattle, clocked in 5:45.9, was fourth.

Miss Petty's time was the same as that of Catherine Wagner of Holland, who was fourth in the first heat. Thus, as fastest fourths, they gained the final.

Miss Heger's time was 5:33.7, considerably slower than her new record.

The convention will continue five days, with a parade of several thousand delegates down Madison avenue Sunday to attend a contest of about 200 drill teams and bands in Soldier's field.

At the opening session, Mayor Edward J. Kelly will give a welcoming address, with a response by Minnesota State Senator George Nordin of St. Paul, grand worthy president.

Set for Action in Gigantic U. S. War Game

This was a scene "somewhere near Camp Custer, Mich.," as the zero hour in U. S. war games brought a squadron of nearly 80 "enemy" war planes roaring down in power dives on a concentration of regular army troops and national guardsmen. Men above are swinging an electrically controlled anti-aircraft gun into action. Small groups to right and left are range-finding and communications details. Foreign military attaches are observing the maneuvers, which involve all branches of the army service.

GOOD THOUGHTS.

The things of matter claim to hold greater attractions for mankind than the things of spirit. This is where faith based on understanding must be exercised. The promises of the Bible must be studied, claimed and clung to, until the temptations of mortal belief no longer attract. Each trial of our faith brings strength for the next encounter, and looking to God instead of listening to the whispers of the serpent of material belief will always bring victory over temptation.

Christ never asks us to give up merely for the sake of giving up, but always in order to win something better.

—Henry Van Dyke.

Learn to commit thy daily acts to God. So shall the dry, everyday duties of common life be steps to heaven and lift thy heart thither.

—Edward B. Pusey.

Leaning on Him, make with reverent meekness His own thy will.

—Whittier.

I will bless the Lord who hath given me counsel. . . I have set the Lord always before me: because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved. Therefore my heart is glad.

ILLINOIS FAIR OPENS TOMORROW IN THRILL DAY

Greatest Fair in Many Years in Prospect Says Director

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 14.—(AP)—More than a square mile of ground was decked out in gaudy colors today in the Illinois state fair grounds as exhibitors, contestants, concessionaires and officials bustled about preparatory to swinging open for the state's 84th annual exposition.

Manager E. E. Irwin said nearly all was ready at the grounds for the nine-day show. Exhibits were in place; drink and food establishments already were open; streets were groomed; the midway's mile of rides and side shows in place; and much of the livestock ready for the contests next week.

Downtown, streets were decorated with bunting and sidewalks grew more crowded by the hour, as the first visitors arrived, with more than a half million persons expected from out of the city, it was impossible to get a hotel reservation and residents with a spare room or kitchenette had their "for rent" signs hung out.

Tomorrow "Thrill Day"

The opening day has been designated as "Thrill Day" and the program from start to finish has been planned to bring gasps of wonder and excitement. The headline performance will be before the grandstand in the afternoon with stunts and crashes by motorcycle and automobile experts.

Superintendents of every livestock department of the fair were unanimous in their reports that exhibits exceeded the 1935 exposition. From Monday through Thursday cattle will be judged daily in the coliseum with entries from nine states setting a record.

As a final preparation for handling the huge crowds, the state department of health and highways will explain safety measures to officials today.

Five Days of Racing

Another five-day program of harness racing will be one of the chief attractions next week, with $22,600 in purses offered to Grand Circuit trotters and pacers appearing on the mile track from Monday through Friday.

Rosalind, the Hambletonian winning filly, and other top flight horses are expected to be shipped here over the week end from Goshen, N. Y., where the Grand Circuit is now in progress.

Fair officials said the leading big time drivers will bring their best horses to the Illinois fair again.

The dirt track, on which several records have been set, has been pronounced in top condition. A year ago, Greyhound, winner of the 1935 Hambletonian, trotted a two-minute mile, the best time ever made by a three-year-old gelding.

Heading the program are the Illinois Review Futurities, for two and three year old trotters and pacers, on Tuesday and Wednesday. Each event has $1000 in added money. Other attractions are the Governor Horner pacing derby and the Director McLaughlin trotting derby, with $1500 added on each.

JUDGE IN GOD'S GIFT BABY CASE ISSUES WARNING

Kahokia, Mo., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Circuit Judge Walter A. Higbee has warned Dr. Ludwig O. Muench, husband of Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench and one of the defendants in the "Gift of God, baby conspiracy" trial, against "anything that might lead to a mistrial."

Before court opened Judge Higbee called Dr. Muench and defense counsel to his bench and said, "It has been reported to me that Dr. Muench has been talking to a juror—I don't know if it's true, but I don't want anything like that."

"That's not true," Dr. Muench said decisively. "I passed a juror and said good morning to him—that's all there is to it."

"Very well," said the court, "I simply don't want anything that might lead to a mistrial."

The defendants are charged with conspiracy to obtain unlawful possession of the baby of Anna Ware, young unwed servant.

Miss Kitty Lazaroff, a former maid in Mrs. Muench's home, testified that she once heard Mrs. Muench say she was leaving for a cocktail party and intended to make a doctor friend believe she expected to become a mother. Mrs. Lazaroff quoted Mrs. Muench as saying on her return that she "had fooled him."

Mrs. Grace Thomasson, star witness for the state was shaken by five days of cross examination in her story that Mrs. Muench sought to obtain $250,000 from Dr. Marsh Pitzman, wealthy St. Louis bachelor, by making him believe he was the baby's father.

Harry Balogh, New York fight announcer, won the plaudits of a London newspaper for his phrase "May the better man emerge victorious," instead of the usual "May the best man win."

C. L. Willford, Texas, state highway engineer, carried on a campaign to install safety devices at a dangerous intersection in Dallas. He was one of the first persons injured there.

'Buck Passing' Legal in Canada

That universal formula for getting out of tight spots, "passing the buck," has won formal recognition with introduction of $1 prosperity certificates by the Alberta, Canada, Social Credit government.

It's the same old game, but with a few new rules. Those holding the certificates each Wednesday (buck-passing day), must affix a 1 per cent stamp on each $1 slip. After two years, scrip is redeemable in good Canadian dollars. Mrs. Edith Gostick, member of the provincial legislature from Calgary, is shown buying groceries with one of first certificates issued.

ADVISORS DISQUALIFIED

—State agricultural officials today recommended that eight additional southeastern Illinois counties be added to the six already included under the federal drought relief program.

A. J. Surratt, agricultural politician, said the counties needing aid are Marion, Clay, Richland, Hamilton, Wayne, White, Edwards and Williamson.

Assistant State Director J. H. Lloyd was in Chicago for an afternoon conference with Chester Davis of the federal department of agriculture.

Six counties—Pope, Hardin, Saline, Gallatin, Franklin and Jefferson—were previously designed as part of the emergency drought area. Addition of the other eight would put most of southeastern Illinois under the emergency aid program.

The recommendations were made after a joint investigation by the extension service at Urbana and the federal and state departments of agriculture.

—A substitute proposal for certifying 2,500 drought-stricken farmers in a half dozen southern Illinois counties was being sought today following a meeting here last night at which county farm advisers were disqualified from passing on work applications.

The substitute proposal developed out of a special drought conference called by Major A. R. Lord, assistant state WPA administrator, and attended by farm leaders from the stricken Jefferson, Franklin, Gallatin, Saline, Pope and Hardin counties.

L. E. Longmire, representing the state agricultural extension service at the University of Illinois, disqualified the county farm advisers from certifying needy farmers. The substitute proposal would have county certifying committees named by rural rehabilitation officials.

Plan Not Feasible

Longmire said the original plan was not feasible because the advisers are supported by memberships in the Illinois Farm Bureau. He declared it would be impossible for county advisers thus supported to rule which farmers need work relief. The farm bureau advisers work in conjunction with the state agricultural college.

Tentative plans call for employment of 2,500 farmers on regular WPA projects in the six counties by Sept. 1. Lord said the taking of applications would begin as soon as approval could be obtained from W. V. Carmichael, state RHA director at Champaign.

"The object of this program is to enable farmers to have money to buy feed so they will not be forced to liquidate their livestock at a loss," Lord said. "It will also give them money with which to resume farming operations next spring."

One-half of the women's finals already has been filled by Mme. Sylvia Henrotin of France, who came through with an unexpected victory over Alice Marble, No. 1 seeded player from Palm Springs, Calif., yesterday. The other finalist was to be selected today in a match between Helen Pederson of Stamford, Conn., and Mrs. John Van Ryn of Philadelphia.

MT. MORRIS

By Mrs. Pauline Yoe

Mr. Morris, Twelve Mt. Morris members of the Eastern Star were among those who welcomed Mrs. Elizabeth Davenport, Grand Worthy Matron of Illinois and her official family. At the ceremonies honoring her Monday evening, Sinissippi chapter of Oregon was host to a large number of neighboring units.

At the dinner which preceded the meeting, a profusion of flowers and colorful evening gowns gave promise of the zestful evening which followed in the lodge rooms.

Mrs. Ruth Toms, Worthy Matron of the Mount Morris chapter, in a sheer white formal, and Harvey Wright, Worthy Patron, were among the twenty-four escorts of the state officials.

Mrs. Davenport's ease and charm of manner alone were enough to win her audience, but she made a complete conquest with her informal talk in which she extolled the beauties of our Rock river valley.

Others from Mount Morris who were in attendance at this pleasant occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Boston and the Mmes. Viola Findley, Olive Smith, Doris Miller, Pauline Yoe, Marylena Van Stone, Gladys Johnston, Mary Wright and Olive Rohleder.

Old friendships are best, and what better way is there for it's continuance than to get together at an evening picnic, where one may recall old memories, and probably a few college escapades.

When Mr. and Mrs. Clark Heckman and their daughter Mary Lou and son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Heckman of Chicago came for a visit with the Harry Bakers Saturday and Sunday they were joined at the Pines by Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Long and their house guests, Mrs. Lloyd Holsinger and daughters Helen and Virginia, Sherwood and Harlan Baker and Roberta Long and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Miller were others at the picnic Saturday evening.

The Baker's company left Sunday while Mrs. Holsinger and daughters are here for a week or more renewing old friendships.

Last Friday Mrs. Dale Lizer, pleasantly entertained Miss Eunice George of Cordova, Iowa, Mrs. Ernest Bubb of Astoria and Mrs. Mose Diehl at an early morning breakfast at the Pines. This proved to be such a pleasant party that the same ladies returned for their supper. In the evening they were joined by Mrs. Milton Capp and Mrs. Bruce of Forreston and Miss Ula Rhone. This get-together was a sort of prelude to the reunion picnic of Mount Morris college alumni which was held on Sunday.

The members of the Willing Worker's class of the Methodist church will have a picnic supper in the parlors of the church on Wednesday evening at 6:30 P. M.

Mrs. Harlan McNett and Jackie accompanied Miss Mary Wishard to the Waubesa cottage last Thursday. Harlan McNett, Eddie Logan and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Coffman with Suzanne drove up to spend the week-end with them. On Saturday Suzanne passed her fifth milestone which was fittingly celebrated with a birthday cake.

The Mmes. James Watt, Charles Cox, Maurice Kuinlin, Ira Hendrickson, Howard Bronson, Frank Horton and Pearl Kable played a few rounds of bridge at the home of Mrs. Arthur Harper last Thursday afternoon.

In honor of Mrs. Ira R. Hendrickson's birthday anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Bibber of Forreston invited Mr. and Mrs. Hendrickson, Mr. and Mrs. George Hendrickson and small son Danny to dinner on Monday evening.

When Mrs. Ronald Wallace entertained at bridge Wednesday evening, her guests were the Mmes. Lester Nunn, Pete Peterson, Ralph Lizer, John Shook, Charles Towns, Jr., Charles Towns, Sr., Frank Graf, Arthur Colvin, Paul Barnhizer, Francis Asp and Francis Michaels.

Frazer Yoe and Ronald Lizer are others who have birthdays this week and a Pines breakfast on Thursday morning commemorated the days.

Mrs. Hugh Felker and Bob, Mrs. Rollie Ommen, Elaine and Gordon, Mrs. John Buck and Arden, Mrs. Darrell Toms and Tommy, Mrs. Dale Lizer with Ronald, Phyllis and Donna and Mrs. Paul Yoe and Frazer spent the morning following the trails and basking in the sunshine.

The dying embers of a wood fire provided not only a friendly glow to the picnic party at the Pines Tuesday evening, but proved quite useful for frying steaks when Roberta Long, Joyce Longman, and Hazel Park organized a reunion on the occasion of Mrs. Fred Ihlenfeld's visit to Mount Morris.

Rev. and Mrs. Ihlenfeld with their tiny daughter, Bernice Wilmfred, are spending part of their vacation from pastoral duties at Winona, Minnesota in the home of the lady's parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Hightower.

The Mission Circle of the Lutheran church had a picnic supper Monday evening at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Holsinger, on Rock river.

Owing to the heat and drought of the past summer, there will be no flower show held by the Mount Morris Woman's club, according to a statement made by the president, Mrs. Pearl Kable.

A gay array of philox and zinnias tried hard to hide the bittersweet of parting when thirty friends of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hohnadel gathered at the Brayton Road home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hendricks, Tuesday evening at a farewell party.

Mrs. Hohnadel, who has been a member of the Brethren church choir for some time, and Mr. Hohnadel, are leaving in the immediate future for Gratiot, Wisconsin, where he is to assume his duties as manager of the Carnation plant there.

The years may not be so many, but this last one will be long remembered by Melvin Priller and his cousin, Lowell Spielman, Jr., to Chicago.

A picnic party was held in their honor, last Sunday, in the Rock River cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sprecher, to celebrate their birthdays. Cakes with candles were by no means the smallest part of the dinner and supper at which guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Spielman and daughter, Lorraine, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spielman and Viola Little of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. George Priller and Irene, William Webster, Clarence Chambers and Miss Kethra Palmer.

Mrs. Maurice Quinlan, Mrs. Arthur Harper, Mrs. Lester Nunn and Mrs. Frank Horton left early Thursday morning for a week's visit in the east. Their first stop will be in Philadelphia. They plan to spend several days in Atlantic City and Mrs. Nunn will go to New York for a day or so while Mrs. Harper will make a side trip to the southern part of Delaware.

Miss Amelia Outman of Marseilles, Iowa, Mrs. Ed Saunders of Dixon, and Miss Lois Belshaw of Marshall, Minnesota, visited with Mrs. Mark Crawford on Wednesday morning.

George Harrington of Harvey, Illinois, is visiting this week in the home of his sister, and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Colvin.

EACH, ANNUALLY, AS CUTWORM DESTROYERS,
IT IS ESTIMATED.

IT has been found that about 88 per cent of a toad's food consists of insect pests, and in a period of three months, about 10,000 injurious insects will be destroyed. Of this number, about 16 per cent will be cutworms, and, counting each cutworm's annual damage at the low figure of 1 cent, each toad would be worth about $20 for this one service alone.

Rich and Reckless

CHAPTER I-A

MOLLY laughed at Brent's reply. That was the nice thing about Brent. He understood, without being angry.

"Is it a headache, cold and rebellion that will continue until evening?" Brent inquired pleasantly. "Because it occurs to me at the moment that I'm taking you to Peggy Carlyle's dance."

"Good memory," Molly answered. "Your name's on my date book, too. As a matter of fact, Brent, I've decided to skip Peggy's dance."

"You can't do that!" Brent exclaimed. "Besides being a date, it's a special kind of date. You know I always spend your birthdays with you."

"Just an old childish custom," Molly replied coolly. "Anyway, I didn't say I wouldn't spend my birthday with you. I'm counting on your skipping the dance with me."

"Oh, you are," Brent spoke slowly. "Naturally. You don't sound very enthusiastic."

"What's on your mind?"

"I'm planning to celebrate differently," Molly explained eagerly. "Frances Carter was telling me about that new night club near Beechland—the 'Red Poppy.'" Frances said it was terrific."

"It is," Brent's voice came grimly over the phone. "No place for you to go."

"And why not?"

"You young idiot. That place is in danger of being raided any time. How would you like to wake up behind bars?"

"I wouldn't mind a bit. At least, it would be a new experience."

"Well, I won't take you to a place like that."

"You won't?" There was a dangerous infection in Molly's voice.

"No. Besides Peggy's party is one I can't miss. Perhaps it has slipped your memory that I'm doing the alteration on the Carter country place."

"Business before pleasure, of course. I'm not going to the Carters' tonight. Why don't you ask Evelyn Lester to take my place?
She adores dance—and you."

"Am I to understand you don't?" Brent laughed.

Molly considered a moment. "I don't adore dances tonight, and I adore you only with qualifications."

"Be reasonable, Molly!"

"Hope you like the dance," Molly said.

Brent seemed brightly un-crushed. "See you soon."

MOLLY clicked the phone in place and sat considering its blank face with a slight frown on her own.

"So superior!" Molly said indignantly. "I don't like being called 'child' and 'mutt' and treated as though I haven't cut my baby teeth yet. If he won't take me, somebody else will. I'm being cheated. Kept housed up like a—like an orchid."

On an impulse, she lifted the orchids and dropped them into a dainty, ribbed waste basket near her dressing table. Then she stopped and retrieved them. Rita adored orchids, even second-hand ones. She possessed a Latin capacity for emotion that Molly sometimes envied. Rita would step out with her young man and they would go places.

"And that," Molly decided, "is what I'm going to do tonight—go places!"

She came from her shower more golden than ever, eyes shining, and sparkling drops of water clinging to her burnished hair.

The third telephone call brought Wick's voice. "Lo! night owl."
A proper salutation that hinted Wick excused her with a degree of sophistication. Neither did Wick howl with amusement at the idea that she could be satiated with social events.

"Skipping Peggy's dance?" he queried and added, "I'll skip it with you."

"Wick!" breathed Molly. "Would you? Take me to the Red Poppy?"

LAST BAND CONCERT TO BE PRESENTED WEDNESDAY EVENING

ASHTON—Herman O'May, last year's band master, will be guest conductor for next week's band concert, the last of the season. The program will be in two parts with Mr. O'May directing Part I and Neil Fox, Part II.

Mr. O'May needs no introduction, since his work with the Ashton high school orchestra in winning three consecutive state contests has brought the school many honors.
This year Mr. O'May has been attending the summer session of the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

The band concerts have been well received by the large Wednesday night crowds, and the many feature numbers along with the other spirited selections have been applauded and encored. The band has been a good training school for many of Ashton's young musicians and they have shown considerable improvement during the season.

During the absence of Mr. Fox, who has also been attending the University of Wisconsin summer school, the band has been conducted by R. E. Mackaman of Rock Falls. Mr. Mackaman has directed some lively and spirited concerts.

The program for the last concert lists some of the best known of classical and popular numbers, and will be a fitting finale to the 1936 season.

The program is as follows:

Part I
"Barnum & Bailey's Favorite" ...
"Colosseum" ..... Overture
"Waltz of Waltzes" .....
..... Medley of Classical Waltzes

GET RULING ON KIND OF CROPS AFTER HARVEST

Legumes Must Be Seeded
Before Aug. 29 for
Good Stand

On July 11 the ruling caused by the drouth, which permitted the harvesting of grain hay or annual legume hay (soy beans) and yet allowed the land to be classed as soil conserving provided a good stand of soil conserving crop is growing on the land when performance is checked this fall was made public by the Illinois agricultural conservation office.

At that time the kind, rate and time of seeding for the soil conserving crop was not released. This week the necessary information was received. Excerpts from the communication follow:

It has been decided by the north central region that the only official standards to be established with reference to the soil conserving crops are: A good stand on the date as of which the final inspection of the farm is made for the purpose of determining performance, such stand to be of a grass or legume that would normally survive the winter; if a nurse crop is used, such nurse crop was not seeded at a rate in excess of one-half the normal rate of seeding when such crop is seeded alone for grain.

Since performance on land from which grain has been harvested will be determined only on the basis of a good stand, it is important a good seed bed be prepared and that all weeds be killed before seeding of a soil conserving crop on the land. Thorough discing and rolling will usually be more conducive to the establishment of a firm seed bed than plowing and harrowing. If a legume is used it should be seeded prior to Aug. 20 for reasonable assurance of a good stand. In the case of seeding any legume the producer should determine whether the soil is sufficiently sweet to permit a good growth of such legume. Where adaptable any of the following seedings may be used:

Alfalfa, 12 to 15 pounds per acre; sweet clover (scarified) 10 to 12 pounds per acre; red clover, 10 to 12 pounds per acre; alsike clover, 5 to 6 pounds per acre; red top, 7 to 10 pounds per acre; timothy, 8 to 10 pounds per acre; a mixture of any of the above legumes and grasses as desired.

Recommended seedings following harvest of legume hay (soy beans and cow pea) will need to be cut rather early in order to seed a soil conserving crop which will show a good stand by the time performance is checked after Sept. 30. Furthermore it must be recognized that the available plant food will be less than normal when a crop follows so closely the harvesting of the hay and there is less assurance of a reliable stand.

In any case it is suggested that the seeding of the soil conserving crop be accompanied by a light seeding of oat (20 to 25 pounds per acre) in order to provide a winter cover for this land. If wheat or rye is used the rate of seeding must not be in excess of the rate of seeding for a harvest crop. The following suggested seedings of soil conserving crops may be used:

Alfalfa, 12 to 15 pounds per acre and red clover 10 to 15 pounds per acre, in connection with the oats cover crop, seeded prior to August 20, timothy, 10 to 12 pounds per acre, red top 7 to 10 pounds per acre; timothy and red top may be mixed with the total equaling 12 to 15 pounds per acre.

For the purpose of having a more satisfactory pasture later is recommended in connection with the grass seedings listed above, that legume seedings be made during the winter or early spring, rather than this fall.

Sweet clover may be seeded in the late fall if unharmed seed is used at the rate of 20 to 25 pounds per acre or 10 to 12 pounds of hulled seed planted at the usual time in the spring. The other recommendations are, red clover 10 to 12 pounds, alsike 3 to 5 pounds, lespedeza 10 to 15 pounds, all planted at the usual time or any combination of clovers.

Socialists Told to Leave Warsaw: They Heeded Order

Chicago, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Prof. Maynard C. Krueger, Illinois secretary of the Socialist party, mapped plans today to return to Warsaw, Ill., despite his declaration that he and two union organizers were "run out of town" by vigilantes.

In a complaint which he said he sent yesterday to Governor Henry Horner, Krueger asserted he and Samuel Laderman, Chicago official of the Pocketbook Workers Union, and C. H. Mayer of Carlinville, Ill., were told to leave Warsaw last Saturday.

"We went there to arrange for a public meeting at which we planned to tell the Warsaw people about sweatshop conditions in the 'pocketbook industry,'" he said. "There is a factory there."

"Five tall, strong fellows approached and told us we had ten minutes to get out of town," the University of Chicago professor said. "One man tried to drag Laderman out of the car."

"We sought out Town Marshal Guy Bell and asked him to take us under his protection to the mayor. He advised us to get out of Warsaw. So we went."
